JUDGING IS IN PROGRESS AT COUNTY FREE FAIR

Bobby Ray Martin Wins Sweepstakes Collin Horse Show

More Than 100 Entries in Collin County Night Classes; Out-of-Town Horses Will Compete Tonight

Bobby Ray Martin of Celina, riding "Franklin D," was as effective as the name of his well trained little Shetland pony Monday night as he won the Pony Sweepstakes and the Bridgefarmer cup as the best young rider of the county in the Collin county night event, which opened the Collin County Horse show here Tuesday night. Bobby Ray, a young lad, won the applause of the several hundred enraptured Collin county horse lovers.

The weather for the opening night was ideal, with but a few scattered clouds overhead and a glorius full moon in the east to add to the beauty and color of the spectacle.

Young Mr. Martin, after being informed he was the winner, was anxious to receive the blue ribbon, signifying first prize, but paid very little attention to the handsome loving cup given by Dr. J. S. Bridgefarmer of the Bridgefarmer's Jewelry store to the best young rider in the county. However, upon being better informed about the true value of the loving cup, Bobby Ray came bouncing back as soon as the show was over, hurrying to the judge's stand with the order, "How about my cup?" He proved very popular during the night's performance.

Three other classes of Shetland ponies and their young riders and three classes of horses with some older riders astride, were judged by Virgil Keel of Gainesville, who proved himself a worthy and competent judge of the Equine show. The show, in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Judd Henderson and Ray Ashley was run off in excellent style with perfect precision. Preceding the show, President A. Hardy Eubanks, of the fair and the horse show, was introduced and made an appropriate nice talk. He especially stressed the final two nights of the show, which will be held tonight (Wednesday) and tomorrow (Thursday) nights at the arena and in which from 135 to 150 of the finest horses of the Southwest, certainly the greatest assemblage of fine horse flesh ever brought together in the state, will compete for attractive prizes.

Mr. Eubanks also introduced W. R. Crabbe of Bowling Green, Kentucky, recognized as one of the outstanding horsemen and judges of the nation, who will judge the final two nights' show of horses.

A crowd numbering into the thousands is expected at the show tonight, while Thursday's crowd may be even larger.

The first night's activities were announced over the loudspeaker system by Hon. W. P. (Billy) Abernathy, who handled the proceedings in this manner in a capable way.

Sheriff G. J. S. Walker made an excellent ringmaster for the show.

The show was enlivened by some spirited recorded music over the loudspeaker system, in charge of Mrs. Judd Henderson.

Supt. Joe H. Wilcox.

The three-night show is in charge of Superintendent Joe H. Wilcox of the Horse Department, a longtime lover of fine horses and a fine superintendent. He is being commended for the elaborate plans made for this year's event.

The judges' stand was beautifully decorated with ferns and flowers, furnished through the courtesy of Coffman's Nursery, W. H. Coffman, manager.

Tom M. Scott, secretary of the horse show, announces that the competition tonight and tomorrow night (Thursday) is expected to be closer than ever before pin history.

R. Fitzhugh Newsome, vice-president of the horse show, announces that children under twelve years of age will be admitted to the horse show free if accompanied by their parents.

Mrs. Lovejoy Offers Prize To Club Girl

Mrs. J. L. Lovejoy, one of McKinney's foremost club workers, civic leader and general booster for the city and county, has offered an attractive prize to the best all-around exhibit arranged by a Collin county 4-H club girl at the annual Collin County Free fair. This prize, a set of six Community-Silver iced tea spoons, goes to Miss Wilena Milraney of the Melissa club. Mrs. Lovejoy is active in the promotion and furtherance of club girl work and one of the county's biggest boosters for the annual free fair and her work is always greatly appreciated by the fair officials and Miss Helen Dunlap, county home demonstration club agent.

Francis Harrington, student in Trinity university, at Waxahachie, accompanied by his friend, Robert Miller of Corsicana, were guests Sunday of his parents, Judge and Mrs. J. Frank Harrington in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Ben Wilson and little granddaughter, Maurine Wilson, of Princeton, visited in McKinney Wednesday.

CattleChecks, Amounting To $4,948, Received By Agent Jack McCullough

County Farm Agent Jack P. McCullough announced Wednesday morning that he had received and now has ready for distribution $4,948 in cattle checks for thirty-two cattle owners of the county who participated in the relief program recently carried on here. This makes a total of $14,148 received in cattle checks for 118 cattle owners of the county.

The drouth relief program in this county was carried on under the supervision of H. F. Ellis of West, Texas, supervisor of the program for Collin and Grayson counties, a large number of cattle being purchased in the county by the government.

Agent McCullough says that another group of cattle checks is expected in the near future.

Agent McCullough also states that the government has not yet given his office any intimation whether or not it will resume buying more cattle.

MRS. I. N. STAGNER, CELINA MOTHER, PASSES AWAY

NATIVE OF TENNESSEE; SISTER LATE DISTRICT CLERK A. S. WHEATLEY

Mrs. I. N. Stagner died suddenly at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, September 26, at her late home, three miles southwest of Celina.

She was up most of the day Tuesday, but in the night she began to sink rapidly and soon passed away. She had been slightly indisposed for several days, but her condition was not regarded as serious by members of the family and neighbors. Consequently, her death comes as a severe shock to all.

She was born at Doverdale, Tennessee, October 26, 1856, and was, therefore, nearly seventy-eight years of age. Her maiden name was Beldonia Wheatley, a sister of the late District Clerk A. S. (Matt) Wheatley of McKinney.

She married I. N. Stagner, April 15, 1884, at Doverdale, and she and her husband moved to Texas, the same year, first locating near McKinney where they lived on a farm until 1902 when they moved to Celina. They were residents in the home in which she died for the last twenty-six years.

Mrs. Stagner is survived by one daughter and four sons, as follows: Mrs. Ella Myer, of Celina; Smith Stagner and Porter Stagner, both at home with their mother, when she passed away, and two other sons whose names we did not learn.

The deceased and her husband were a very devoted couple, who had lived together as husband and wife for more than fifty years. There were no better people than they.

The deceased was a member of the Baptist church, at Celina. She was very faithful to her church and to every obligation of life, when she was able to respond.

Funeral services were held at the Celina Baptist church Thursday afternoon, Sept. 27, at 2:30 o'clock, conducted by the pastor, Rev. W. J. Epting. Interment followed in the Celina cemetery, under the direction of the Sam J. Massie & Son Funeral home of this city.

Mrs. Ben T. Estes, 730 North Montclair, Dallas, came up, Tuesday morning, to attend the county fair. Mrs. Estes lived in McKinney for a number of years and still owns some valuable real estate here, both business and residential property. She owns the two-story brick building on the North Side of the public square, the ground floor of which is occupied by the Bone Shoe store and the second-story by the law firm of Truett, Wolford & Abernathy. Mrs. Estes was luncheon guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bone at noon. Mrs. Estes' late husband was one of the most widely known dry goods and clothing merchants and salesmen that McKinney ever had.

The Fourth Sunday singing convention was held at Forest Grove Sunday with a large attendance present. A number of good singers from all over the county were present. The house was crowded at the all-day event with dinner on the ground at noon.

Miss Ruth Johnson of Princeton is visiting in this city Wednesday.

FUNERAL OF MRS. M. E. WELCH ANNA LADY

HUSBAND IS BROTHER McKINNEY MAN

Funeral services for Mrs. M. E. Welch were held Saturday afternoon, September 22, at Anna with a large attendance. Rev. Roy Patton, pastor of the Anna Methodist church, and Rev. Thos. Sterck, pastor of the Allen charge, but formerly pastor of the Anna church, conducted the services. Mrs. Jack Smith and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Shelly and Ray Patton rendered special music.

Pallbearers were W. L. Trice, Charles Nixon, W. B. Giles, T. J. Crigger and L. I. Cadenhead of Anna and W. T. Anderson of Van Alstyne.

The deceased was a charter member of the Anna Methodist church and helped secure the new building. She had taught Sunday school there for many years. She had nine children and 11 grandchildren. Mrs. Rebecca Brune of Honolulu was the only one of the children unable to attend the services.

The surviving husband is a brother of Sam Welch of McKinney.

FUNERAL HELD TUESDAY FOR W. E. BARRETT

PASSED AWAY AT HOME OF SISTER AT TOM BEAN, TEXAS

Funeral services for the late W. E. Barrett, aged 48, were held in the chapel of the Isaac Crouch Funeral home Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Dr. Minor Bounds, pastor of the First Methodist church. Interment was made in Pecan Grove cemetery. Pallbearers were Tom Bailey, Ed Blakeman, Bill Kerby, Jason Furr, Eddie Hammonds, and I. M. Counts.

The deceased was born Feb. 19, 1886 in Chattanooga, Tenn., but had resided in this state for forty years. He lived in McKinney for ten years, being well-known here.

The deceased died Monday morning at 930 o'clock at the home of a sister, Mrs. Nola Turner in Tom Bean, Texas. He had been ill for six weeks following a nervous breakdown. He is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Maude Morgan, two sisters and a brother. He was a brother-in-law of Mrs. Walter Mockford, Mrs. A. D. Gambrell, Mrs. B. H. Cope and Charley Morgan all of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dixon and Miss Rebecca Graves of Blue Ridge, attended the horse show here Tuesday night. Miss Graves is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Graves of this city. She is teaching at Blue Ridge this year.

W. Ralph Davis, the bookbinder from Greenville was in McKinney Tuesday, conferring with patrons. He thoroughly understands his trade and is quite an expert at it. Mr. Davis has for several years been binding the files of the Daily Courier-Gazette and Weekly Democrat-Gazette and doing other kinds of binding that we might need done from time to time.

Mother of Hon. Wallace Hughston Dies In Plano

Mrs. T. F. Hughston, 82, native of Collin county and mother of State Senator-elect Wallace Hughston of McKinney, died at the family home in Plano Wednesday night. Funeral services will be held this (Thursday) afternoon at 4:00 o'clock at the Methodist church, there, with Rev. J. D. Thomas officiating.

Surviving are her husband, a Confederate veteran; two sons, Tom A. Hughston, Dallas; and Hon. Wallace Hughston of McKinney, who last year was Grand Master of the Grand Masonic Lodge of Texas; and two daughters, Miss Eva Hughston, teacher in the McKinney* Public schools, and Miss Carrie Hughston, teacher in the Dallas Public schools, both of Plano.

Announces New Store In McKinney

The Walker Hardware and Furniture store has been sold and the stock is being placed together with added stock in the same building Mr. Earl Walker occupied. The new store is called "The Economy Cash Store." Charles Self as manager, who will have with him a corps of young salesmen. The opening will be Saturday, September 29. Real values are promised out of this big stock. Remember the time and place of the openings. The former Walker Furniture store on West Louisiana street near the southwest corner of the square. Call and see the bargains. A welcome will greet you.

DATE FOR SEEDING WHEAT

The best date on the average for seeding wheat that is to be harvested for grain is just a short time before the average date for first killing frost. In this way, generally by the time the wheat is up a frost will have fallen or soon will fall which will make life harder for the Hessian fly. Furthermore, wheat is not a hot weather plant so that aside from the fly it is better to let the hot weather pass before seeding the crop. It is better to be a week late than a week early in seeding wheat. However, preparation of seedbed should start just as early as practicable. Four, six or eight weeks before date of seeding is not too early to begin preparation.

Poultry, Culinary And Art Exhibits Judged Tuesday

Wednesday One of Banner Days of Event; Confederates, Their Wives And Widows Are Honored Today

The seventeenth annual Collin County Free fair entered its fourth day Thursday with prospects indicating this year's event will be the best in history, both in point of attendance, exhibits and general interest, after two record-breaking days.

Wednesday's feature included the program and dinner for the Confederate veterans of the county held Thursday morning and noon at a tent erected south of the coliseum. Here, the few surviving veterans of a "lost cause" their wives and widows gathered once again under the sponsorship of the Throckmorton Camp association for a delightful program and reminiscences, which they always look forward to. This feature was in charge of a committee composed of Mrs. Charles Waide, Mrs. J. T.2Couch, Mrs. Joe H. Wilcox and Mrs. Walter Wiley.

Style Show Wednesday.

Wednesday, Sept. 26, was also the first day of the style show by 4-H club girls of the county from the ages of 10 to 20 years, competing for attractive prizes awarded by McKinney merchants. This show is being carried out in classes with the girls of various ages displaying dresses, which they have made themselves and which they will model. The style show was held at 5:00 o'clock that afternoon and again at the same hour Thursday afternoon.

◆ ◆ ◆

Another special day was held Thursday when the school children of the county were honored at the fair.

The horse show, held annually in conjunction with the show, commenced Tuesday night with Collin county night being featured, and 100 riders or more from over the county participating. Bobby Ray Martin, Celina youngster, won the Pony Sweepstakes prize and the Bridgefarmer cup.

The judging, which continues throughout the four-day fair, moved into one of the best exhibits of the entire exposition today as judges pinned ribbons on winning livestock in the livestock barns on the fair grounds. Canning products of Collin county housewives and the poultry exhibit, the finest in history, were judged Tuesday.

During the late afternoon and night, one of the largest crowds in the history of the county-wide exposition thronged the fair grounds and the midway of the Southern Exposition shows, perhaps the largest, and most up-to-date carnival shows which have ever appeared here. In fact, the entire fair grounds, the livestock barns, the coliseum and shed, the midway and the horse show grounds were all crowded to capacity throughout the evening's entertainment. A fine spirit prevailed among all. All sections of the county and many other North Texas cities were represented in the huge crowd.

Willie Karbe, featured free act performer, again thrilled the crowds on the Southern Exposition Shows Midway Tuesday when he gave two fine balancing acts, at 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon and 10:00 at night. Mr. Karbe does all of his stunts, high in the air, while balanced on his head. He drew a large amount of applause, and his act is considered one of the best of its kind ever given here.

Rev. G. B. Airhart preached at Blue Ridge Sunday for Rev. J. R. Hilger who is in a revival meeting in Omaha, Arkansas.

The brick business house, West Virginia street, being put in condition for the Piggly-Wiggly store will soon be ready for occupancy.

Miss Belle Cole is again with H. A. Abernathy, attorney and abstractor. Miss Belle has been spending several months at her home at Menden, Louisiana. Miss Belle's many friends are glad to see her back in McKinney again.

BROKEN ARM IN SPLINTS FOR 378 DAYS

Billy Gee, who has resumed his position as leatherworker at the George W. James hardware and implement store, has about gotten back his normal strength again in his left arm that was so badly broken, in an auto accident, occuring just north of Melissa, July 16, 1933. His arm was badly broken between the elbow and the shoulder. As a hesult, he had to carry the arm in a sling for 378 days, or almost thirteen months. His friends and patrons all over the county are happy to see him back at his accustomed place of business and almost entirely recovered from his long and painful ordeal. Billy Gee is one of the most clever, big hearted fellows that we ever met. His friends are legion. His genial attitude towards everybody helps make the world brighter and happier for all who pass his way.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Aston and sons, Joe Jr. and Paul, of Farmersville, were guests of Judge and Mrs. J. Frank Harrington for the horse show here Tuesday night.

25 YEARS AGO IN M'KINNEY

FROM THE FILES OF THE DAILY COURIER-GAZETTE

(September 25, 1909.)

Dr. Fitzhugh Beverly has returned to Austin after a visit to his mother, Mrs. W. T. Beverly, in McKinney. He is First Assistant Physician in the State Insane Asylum, at Austin.

J. W. Blanton, an old successful farmer living near Woodlawn was in McKinney today. He is recovering from a painful injury sustained in trying to manage a young horse that he was leading.

John H. Orenduff, a veteran Melissa farmer, called to renew his Daily Courier-Gazette subscription to January 1, 1910. Uncle John is seventy-two years old. He has resided at his present homeplace for fifty-four years.

Capt. Harve Nichols and R. H. McMinn of Farmersville's champion W. O. W. Degree team of the state, attended the Uniform Rank Encampment in Denison last night.

H. P. Cornett, interurban motorman, holds the record today as champion 'possum hunter of Collin county. As he was bringing the last car into McKinney about midnight last night, he noticed, by the glare of his headlight, a fat 'possum on the track ahead of him. He stopped the car, left it in charge of Conductor Ben Pope, jumped down and gave chase to the marsupial just as he did when a barefoot boy back in old Georgia. In two minutes he returned with one of the fattest possums seen here this year by the McKinney 'Possum and Tater club.

Demonstration Clubs Have Fine Exhibits at Fair

Culleoka Six Teacher School Good Start

Prof. Melvin M. Harper, superintendent of the Culleoka six-teacher school was in the city Saturday. His school started off in a fine way on Monday, September 17, with a large enrollment and with the following teachers, assisting him: Mrs. Delzie Harper, Mrs. May Snavely, Miss Ruth Powell, Miss Lana Godwin and Prof. James T. Couch, acting principal. Miss Godwin, a Culleoka home girl, is a new teacher, as is also Miss Powell, who lives at Anna. The other four teachers were reelected. Superintendent Harper begins his seventh consecutive school year at Culleoka.

As the cotton crop came on early and is now practically all picked in that section of the county, a larger per cent of the children than usual were ready to enter school at the opening this fall.

The three trustees are: J. R. Jenkins, S. J. Jackson and O. F. Bentley.

THE WOODWORTH OBSEQUIES ARE LARGELY ATTENDED

Quite a number of Dallas friends and relatives accompanied the body of the late Justus L. Woodworth to McKinney for interment at 4:00 o'clock Monday afternoon, September 24, in Pecan Grove cemetery.

The deceased, who was a construction engineer and contractor, died suddenly early Sunday morning of apoplexy, suffered at Madisonville, Texas, where he was in charge of a contract, early Friday morning before.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock in the Central Christian church, Dallas, of which the deceased was a deacon. Dr. Garham Frank pastor, officiated. Dr. Clifford S. Weaver, pastor of the First Christian church, at McKinney, assisted him, and also assisted in concluding the brief funeral services at the graveside in McKinney.

The Ed C. Smith Funeral home of Dallas directed the burial arrangements in cooperation with the C. C. Harris Funeral home of McKinney.

The deceased is survived by his wife, who was formerly Mss Helen Fox of McKinney, who is a member of one of Collin county's most influential pioneer families, being a daughter of the late County Commissioner Sam H. Fox and wife.

The deceased was a Mason, a Shriner and a highly intelligent gentleman of unusual character and personality.

Many relatives of the wife of the deceased and friends of the family from McKinney and other points over Collin county attended the burial here. Many beautiful flowers covered the new made grave.

Among Dallas relatives to attend the burial here were Earl Ware and wife and A. B. Mayhew and wife. Mrs. Joe Ware and Mrs. W. R. Hill, sisters of the bereaved widow who live here, also accompanied the remains from Dallas to McKinney for burial.

SECOND CRIMINAL ASSIGNMENT WEEK OPENS MONDAY

The second week of criminal assignment cases began in Judge F. E. Wilcox's Fifty-Ninth District court here Monday with several cases being disposed of in rapid order. County Attorney W. Clarence Dowdy and his assistant, Leon O. Moses, represented the state in each case, as follows:

Jesse Boone, charged with theft over $50.00, found guilty and given a three years' suspended sentence.

Jack Morgan, charged with theft over $50.00, found guilty and sentenced to two years in penitentiary.

Ben Marshall, charged in two cases with burglary, found guilty and given three years in each case.

Ben Marshal, charged with theft over $50.00, found guilty and given two years in the state penitentiary.

Eugene Cooper, charged in two cases of theft of chickens, and fined $30.00 in each case.

Dan Jones charged with burglary, found not guilty.

Thrifty Tenant On Farm Of Mrs. Searcy

P. F. Pittman, Route 4, McKinney, who lives on Mrs. Al Searcy's farm in the Lone Elm community, was in the city Saturday. He made an average of about sixteen-and-a-half bushels of wheat to the acre, this year, which was not so bad for this unfavorable grain year. His oats made about thirty bushels per acre, and his corn around twenty. He says that he made a fairly good corn crop on the least amount of rain that he ever grew. His cotton is a sorry crop however, and will not average hardly a quarter of a bale per acre. He planted a couple of acres of onion slips, one acre of them was set out a little later and did not do much. However, he sold $90 worth of onions from the other acre. He has baled cain for hay this year, and a little alfalfa. He says it was just too dry for his alfalfa to do much good. Mr. Pittman and an intelligent farmer and has been on Mrs. Searcy's place for a number of years.

MELISSA MAN PROVIDES FAIR TRANSPORTATION

A demonstration of the county-wide good will and interest prevailing among the people generally for the Free Collin County fair now on in McKinney may be referred to from a Melissa citizen in the person of E. O. Knox, a widely known business man of that little village, seven miles north of McKinney, who is a member of the school board there, and is listed among the most useful and influential persons by his fellow townsmen.

On Tuesday afternoon, Mr. Knox gave out the word that he would bring free as many as thirty or forty people of his town and vicinity to the fair that night.

He then proceeded to prepare one of his big trucks by spreading hay over the bottom and then covering the same with a big tarpaulin.

He preferred to bring widow women and children and others who had no transportation of their own.

As a result, he was almost overloaded with appreciative passengers, whom he safely unloaded at the fair grounds, telling them to be back at the same place at 10:00 o'clock for the return trip home.

Mr. Knox is repeating this very much appreciated service to his fellow townsmen, who are minded to accept his hospitality to attend their county fair.

The officials of the fair, headed by President Hardy Eubanks, president, and Secterary W. Hammond Moore are loud in their praise of Mr. Knox's fine cooperation.

It is needless to say that the many children and some widow women of the town are also very grateful to him for these evenings of pleasure that he is making possible for them to enjoy here at the Seventeenth Annual Free Collin County fair.

They mingled among the exhibits in the coliseum and the livestock and poultry departments, also in the amusement department, and several of them took the opportunity of seeing the fine horses in action at the horse show.

The entire Melissa delegation were more than pleased at their county fair exhibits, its educational opportunities and the amusements that it provides for all ages and classes.

Melissa has always had a large part in helping make its county fair a success every year.

MRS. ETTA DURHAM PASSES AWAY AT CORPUS CHRISTI

Mrs. Etta Durham, aged 59 years, 1 month and 4 days old, wife of T. D. Durham, died at her late home in Corpus Christi Saturday night, September 22, at 9 o'clock, following an extended illness of several months. She had been ill since last July, suffering from paralysis.

The body was shipped to McKinney and was received Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock by the Sam J. Massie & Son Funeral home of this city, and conveyed to the Rowlett Creek church where funeral services were held at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, conducted by Rev. G. O. Key, Baptist minister of McKinney. Interment followed in the Rowlett Creek cemetery under the direction of the Sam J. Massie & Son Funeral home. She was a member of the Baptist church.

The deceased was a daughter of the late John W. Witt and wife, well-known Collin county couple, both of whom are buried at Rowlett Creek cemetery.

The Durham family moved from this county some twenty-five years ago to Corpus Christi. They have many friends residing in this county, especially in Southwest Collin.

Surviving are her husband, T. D. Durham, three sons, one daughter and several brothers. The deceased was a sister-in-law of Mrs. Milt Turner, residing a few miles southwest of McKinney.

C. H. WOODROOF PREACHES AT CHURCH CHRIST

One of the largest crowds ever to attend a regular Sunday night service at the Wilcox street Church of Christ, was present Sunday night and heard the minister, C. H. Woodroof, preach on "How to Read, Understand and Remember the Bible." In his introductory remarks, the speaker said the Bible is the greatest book in the world because of its nature, its contribution to human thought and the influence it has had upon the world. He also said, in spite of its enemies, the Bible is still the best seller and has been translated into over nine hundred languages and dialects.

One of the first things in studying the Bible, the speaker said, is to recognize its main division of the Old Testament and new testament for without such recognition be continued, the Bible will not be intelligible to its readers. He also said that these divisions were divided into subdivisions the Old Testament having five books of law, twelve books of history, six books of poetry and sixteen books of prophecy, while the New Testament, he continued has four books of biography, one book of conversions, twenty-one books called the epistles and one book of revelation.

Much interest was manifested in the subject and the speaker said at some later date he would study other themes relating to the Bible. A large crowd was present also at the morning hour of worship and heard the sermon on "The Spirit of Christ."

JOINT HIGHWAY ASSOCIATIONS MEET AT PARIS

Editor A. G. (Pat) Mayse of the Paris News is President of the United States Highway No 271 association. He is naturally interested in seeing the joint convention of that association; United States Highway 82, which travels over Highway No. 5 in Texas; and State Highway No. 24 association, of which A. H. Eubanks of McKinney is president, made a big success when it is held in Paris, on October 11 and 12.

Some highway notables of outstanding prominence from Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Louisiana will be present, among them being Judge W. R. Ely and John Woods of the Texas Highway commission.

On the same dates that this joint highway convention are to be held in Paris, October 11 and 12, will also be held the annual fall Horse Show of the Paris Saddle club, at which all delegates will be honor guests of the club for the show.

Pawnee Bill (Major Gordon W. Lillie) will be present at the horse show. He will furnish buffalo meat from his ranch in Oklahoma for the banquet to be served by Paris to the Highway delegates.

The fact that Pat Mayse will be head of the entertainment arrangements to be put on by the thriving little Northeast Texas city of Paris is equivalent to saying that the occasion is bound to be a success.

President A. H. Eubanks of No. 24 State Highway association will be sure to attend with a goodly delegation.

TOTAL OF 566 CORN-HOG CONTRACT SIGNERS IN COLLIN WILL VOTE ON 1935 PLAN OF CORN-HOG PROGRAM

SO ANNOUNCES FARM AGENT JACK McCULLOUGH AND BAILEY WHISENANT, SECRETARY OF CORN-HOG ASSOCIATION IN COUNTY; MEETINGS SCHEDULED OCTOBER 4, 5 AND 6 TO EXPLAIN MOVE.

Five hundred sixty-six corn-hog contract signers in Collin county will be asked to vote on the 1935 plan of the corn-hog section of the AAA, according to word received here by County Farm Agent J. P. McCullough from E. M. Regenbrecht, extension swine husbandman. The referendum is set for the first week of October.

Regenbrecht represented the Texas Extension Service in the AAA meeting held recntly in Kansas City where farmers and representatives from state agricultural colleges from Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Texas met to make recommendations for the next steps in the corn-hog program. The first question at Kansas City and to be voted on by corn-hog contract signers is whether or not there shall be any sort of adjustment program in this field, Regenbrecht stated.

The second point to be decided is whether the contract shall deal with corn only or hogs only or be a joint contract as in 1934.

The third question will ask for preference on the type of contract which they wish to follow the 1935 program. This refers to a possible unified contract for the six basic grains: wheat, corn, rye, barley, grain sorghums and flax. It would represent a shift from several single crop contracts to a broad program of developing better systems of farming through less intensive use of land, conservation of soil resources, and use of land for those crops for which it is best adapted.

The fourth question will be voted on only by those contract signers who are grain sorghum growers for grain. It will ask if they prefer that grain sorghums be included in the 1935 contract. The exact wording of the questions will be available at the time of the referendum.

At Kansas City the voting was that benefit payments be made on both corn and hogs, that the established 1932-33 base in the 1934 program for both corn and hogs be used, with benefit payments of $3 per head on 75 per cent of the 1932-33 hogs, and of 40 cents per bushel on the appraised yield of contracted corn acres; and that the growing of hogs be permitted up to 80 or 85 per cent of the base, and corn acreage increased up to 75 to 90 per cent of the base, the exact percentage to be optional.

Other recommendations made by the conference were that contract corn acreage be used without restriction for hay, pasture, soil improvement, soil erosion prevention crops, fallowing, or for forest plantings; that grain sorghums be included in the 1935 contract on the same basis as corn as to adjustments, benefits and tax; and that the base of processing tax be broadened to include other commodities in proportion to the benefits accruing to them from this program.

It was also recommended that the plan for warehousing corn on the farm be continued and the same principal extended to other grains, and that the 1935 corn-hog contract be made a step toward a long-time contract program to begin in 1936. It was asked that the referendum be held the first week in October, that the questions be clarified and made more specific; and that the poll be taken by unpaid workers. "It must be remembered that these were merely recommendations to the AAA and that that they may or may not be followed," Regenbrecht said.

All contract signers are urged to attend one of these meetings, by Bailey Whisenant, Secretary of Corn-Hog association.

STATE CONVENTION ADVISED DEFEAT OF AMENDMENT

The State Democratic convention, at Galveston, on September 11, adopted the following resolution, opposing the limit on the state tax income on a population basis that is to be voted on in the November election. The resolution is as follows:

◆ ◆ ◆

OPPOSES AMENDMENT

WHEREAS, since the submission of the proposed constitutional amendment to limit state tax income in Texas on a population basis, there have developed unforeseen contingencies in the finances of the state, particularly in carrying and retiring the bonds for poor relief and in meeting the requirements of Federal Highway Act No. 393, 73rd Congress; and

WHEREAS, under these circumstances the amendment threatens the continuation on existing bases of state aid to local units for schools and roads; and

WHEREAS, the amendment if adopted would further shift tax burdens from the state to local communities, and from large to small taxpayers; and

WHEREAS, the adoption of these restrictions on the state's income would decrease the ability of Texas to carry on those activities of state government hitherto regarded as fundamental in the traditions and time-honored principles of the Democratic Party; be it

RESOLVED, that this Convention now recommends to the people of Texas that the amendment be defeated at the coming November election.

Rev. Frank Wilkinson, pastor of the Methodist church at Princeton, announces that Dr. H. D. Knickerbocker, presiding elder of this district, will preach at Henslee Chapel, three and a half miles northwest of Farmersville, Sunday morning, September 30, at 11 o'clock. The fourth quarterly conference will meet in the early afternoon. At noon the ladies of the church will serve dinner. All members of the conference are urged to be present and visitors are cordially invited to these services.

SHOWS MODEL MINIATURE CEMETERY

Many compliments are being heard from fair visitors, who have seen and admired the interesting booth there of the C. C. Harris Funeral home of this city. Mr. Harris has not only placed in this booth a perfect miniature model likeness of the Harris Funeral home but also has arranged another interesting feature to please visitors.

This booth which is located in the coliseum with other exhibits displays a model miniature cemetery, which represents the open grave with all the equipment and arrangements set for an interment by the Harris method.

This with two other lots shown in the scene represents a section of the beautiful and well kept Pecan Grove cemetery. All lots are terraced with imitation grass and have copings, walks and cornerstones. There are also several statues and monuments of white marble.

The open grave and arrangements are on the middle lot and represent a most complete burial arrangement. The grave is lined and grass spreads, such as Harris use over the lot and earth. A miniature model of the new placing device and stand are also shown, with a nickel plated lowering device and a small bronze casket over the grave, ready to be lowered. There are flowers on the casket and other sprays and wreaths are to be noticed. The Clark grave vault is placed to one side ready for use with a mattress to go on it. There is also a tent neatly stretched over the grave with "Harris Funeral Home" lettered thereon. Even the people are shown gathering at the graveside and being directed to seats provided for them. Among these are ministers, funeral director, members of the family and friends. Automobiles are also in the scene, which features the funeral coach as shown loaded with flowers. Traffic flags are in place on each car.

On one of the other lots is a new made grave covered with flowers and representing a late burial by Harris. There are trees and evergreen on all of these lots, and the driveways are made of sand.

This little model was also made by C. C. Harris and is in itself another piece of real art to be admired.

Mrs. John R. Brown is better today after a few days indisposition. Mrs. Brown's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Murphy, live in her home with her and tenderly look after her welfare.

Fred Barnes Buys C. R. Scott Home Place

Fred Barnes has bought the C. R. Scott home place, corner West Erwin and North Coleman streets. Tom W. Perkins of the McKinney Realty Company handled the deal. Mr. Barnes owns the nice house and lot, just east of this place.

He believes in McKinney, and buys the Scott house and lot as an investment, paying all cash. Mr. Barnes is the popular and efficient book-keeper for W. H. Knott's large bakery. Mr. Scott is McKinney's well-known brick contractor. The McKinney Realty Company thanks them both for this business.

Vocational-Agriculture Fair Display

The W. E. Leverkuhn Chapter, Future Farmers of America, of the Vocational Agricultural Department McKinney High school, under the direction of Prof. J. T. (Doe) Rollins, has arranged an attractive and interesting booth at the seventeenth annual Collin County Free fair. Among the displays in the booth is one which reads, "The foundation of Collin county's future is its girls and boys. Aid them to keep the home and soil. Conserve it for the boys and girls. Their future depends upon it."

Prof. Rollins and his students are doing some very beneficial work and their exhibit is drawing praise from every side. The department inspected the fair attractions Tuesday.

New 1934 Buick On Display At County Free Fair

The Collin County Buick company of this city, of which Gibson Phelps is the popular young manager, has a 1934 Buick coupe on display in the fair exhibits at the coliseum. This pretty car is green in color, is pleasing to the eye and is equipped with the latest and most up-to-date accessories, while still retaining the exceptional quality which has made Buick automobiles famous. The Collin County Buick company invites you to drop by and see their exhibit of this fine car and have it explained to you by those in charge.

Babcock Bros. Have Display At Collin Free Fair

The Babcock Bros. Auto Supply store in McKinney, of which Munroe Alderson is the popular young manager, has a very unique and clever exhibit in the City coliseum for the seventeenth annual Collin County Free fair. In this exhibit may be seen a map, showing portions of Texas and Oklahoma and the location of the several Babcock Bros. Auto Supply houses in these states.

There is also a fine exhibit of the many fine articles which Babcock's sell in this city under the supervision of Manager Alderson.

Mr. Alderson has also arranged a commendable display, in miniature, showing an oil well pumping and tracing the crude oil into the refinery and eventually to the dealer. The Babcock Bros. store has a fine line of Babolene motor oils, which they feature.

New Equipment At North Side Beauty Shop

Chief Recer, proprietor of the North Side Barber and Beauty shop is calling attention through the Daily Courier-Gazette and the Weekly Democrat-Gazette to the addition of more modern equipment in his beauty parlors. A new Halliwall dryer and a Halliwell scalp steamer have been added to this shop. This steamer is the first of this kind of equipment for beauty parlors to be installed in the city.

Mr. Recer owns one of the most modern beauty salon's in the city, which is neat in appearance, carrying out a color scheme of green and orchid. Only experienced operators are employed and they give the best to be found in beauty work.

Mr. Recer and the employes extend a cordial invitation to the general public, desiring tonsorial or beauty work, to call at their modern shop where they will receive first class work from courteous operators.

W. L. Holbert received word Tuesday of the serious illness of his son, who is in a Houston hospital. The message stated that his son had submitted to an appendicitis operation. Mr. Holbert has already gone to Houston to be at his son's bedside. Mr. Holbert's son is in the United States Navy and is stationed at Houston.

Interesting Fair Exhibit By J. P. Dowell Co.

Among the interesting exhibits in the coliseum, which houses the displays of the seventeenth annual Collin County Free fair, now in progress for four days, is that of the J. P. Dowell big hardware and furniture store of this city. The exhibit is well arranged and decorated. It features R. C. A. radios, Aladdin Lamps, and pressure cookers and sealers for the farm women of the county. The Dowell store is also advertising an "air cell" radio that can be used where there is no electric power available. The big J. P. Dowell store is a big booster of the county-wide fair and always has a fine exhibit at the fair. They invite you to go by and see their displays.

Last Rites For Miss Kendall Are Held Here Monday

Funeral services for Miss Allie Kendall, who died Friday at 1:30 p. m., were held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Sheppard Funeral Chapel, conducted by Rev. J. D. Grey, pastor of the First Baptist church. A quartet composed of Misses Velma Boner and Ola Tate and Joe Lipscomb and James Dixon sang three old hymns, "Rock of Ages," "Abide With Me" and "In the Sweet Bye and Bye."

The body was taken to McKinney overland, and buried there at 4 o'clock in the Pecan Grove cemetery. A number of relatives were here for the services and among the Denton friends going to McKinney were Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Roberts and Mrs. Pearl Rowland, Mr. and Mrs. Kilgore, Mrs. L. Harwell, Mrs. Wimberly and Miss Kate Cross.—Denton Record-Chronicle.

See Frank Blackwell with the McKinney Realty Company if you want a nice 33 acre farm, close to McKinney. Immediate possession. Take good car, livestock, part payment.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Morris are now residing at Weston, ten miles northwest of McKinney in this county. They recently announced their marriage, which took place on September 14. The bride, Mrs. Pauline Lee, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Berry of Weston, while the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Morris of the Lone Star community, all of this county.

Aged Weston Citizen Died Thursday, Sept. 30

Funeral services for A. P. Mayes, who died Thursday, Sept. 20, at Weston, were held at the Cottage Hill church, conducted by Rev. A. R. Morgan and Rev. W. J. Epting of Celina. Burial was in Cottage Hill cemetery.

Mr. Mayes was born in Morristown, Tenn., Oct. 26, 1846, and was married in Tennessee to Miss Mary Smallman, now deceased. To this union was born six children: Henry Mayes of Colbert, Okla., Mrs. Joe Potter of Calera, Okla., Mrs. Laura Aaron of Tioga, W. T. Mayes of Weston, Mrs. Ida Stroud and Mrs. Elizabeth Watson of Blanco.

Mrs. J. T. Hutchins and son, Leland, of Wylie, moved to Dallas. Mrs. Hutchins had long been a resident of Wylie.

EVENT OF NEARLY THREE-QUARTERS OF A CENTURY AGO WAS OFFICERED BY THOS. LEWELLING, PRES., ISAAC GRAVES, V-PRES

GEORGE HERNDON, TREASURER AND GEORGE WHITE, SECRETARY—BOARD OF DIRECTORS AND JUDGES WERE FORBEARS OF MANY PRESENT DAY COLLIN CITIZENS.

Fair suspended during Civil War was resumed in early eighties—George White Father Mrs. W. T. Hoard was leader in early fairs as Secretary and then President; He was surveyor, friend of churches and public schools and benefactor of both city and rural sections.

Mrs. Margaret White Hoard, wife of Dr. W. T. Hoard, of this city, recently returned from a month's very enjoyable visit to her mother, Mrs. Margaret Mathews, and two sisters, Mrs. Charles F. Bates and Miss Clarinda Mathews, all now residing at 33 Park Avenue, Bronxville, New York, suburb of New York City.

Mrs. Hoard is the daughter of George White, who emigrated from the state of New York to Texas in 1847, the year following the creation and organization of Collin as a county and a year prior to the founding of McKinney, which was laid out and established in 1848. Mr. White was a man of exceptionally bright intellect and far-seeing business ability, a land surveyor, a pioneer friend of education and philanthropist.

Among his activities during his life-time that was lived in Collin county for 39 years from 1847 until his death which occurred July 9, 1886, he indelibly impressed his name and public service upon the history of our county and state for all time.

He was secretary of "The First Annual Fair of the Agricultural, Horticultural and Mechanical Society of Collin county," held at the fair grounds, just east of McKinney, commencing on Tuesday, October 16, 1860 and continuing for four days.

While on her visit in the East during the past summer, Mrs. Hoard procured from her mother several priceless mementos of her father and his civic and business leadership in our city and county, covering his period of residence here of thirty-nine years.

Among these prized family mementos brought back to McKinney by Mrs. Hoard is a large 18 by 21 inch diploma, by "The Fair Association of Collin County," lithographed on heavy, high grade quality ledger paper, with "John McKittrick, lithographer, St. Louis," imprint on the margin.

Mr. White's picture is printed at the bottom of the diploma in the center, with "President" underneath his name.

This indicates that this particular diploma was used at one of the county fairs at McKinney held subsequent to the Civil War. Certainly, it was not for use at the first county fair held in October, 1860, as Mr. White was Secretary and not president of the Association, that year.

After the first fair in 1860 no others were held until several years after the Civil War waged 1861-65, probably commencing in the early seventies.

It was probably for one of these annual events that this diploma was used as an award or premium to be given to the winners.

The top of the diploma shows a livestock judging event in progress in an arena with people seated in the amphitheater surrounding it.

Then, surrounding the diploma in border-fashion, are eleven emblems, scenes and pictures, pertinent to and appropriate for a county fair—at the top was the American eagle emblem, with "E Pluribus Unum" under it, followed in order by an anchored steamboat and freight train of primitive type standing by to load such agricultural products or unload them as barrels of bacon, lard, pork, corn, whiskey, flour, barley, garden seed, wheat, oats, hemp, rope, hogshead of Missouri Leaf tobacco; a farm woman surrounded by sheaves of wheat, oats, garden vegetables and products of the loom; picture of a fine show hog; shorthorn bull; old-fashioned locomotive with passengers and cargo unloading; racetrack showing the speeding racehorses with mounts in contest; farmers at work, cutting and shocking corn; farm scene showing swine, bale of cotton, sack of wheat and barrel of flour, typifying Collin farm scene; picture of fine saddle horse and ranch scene, cowboys with cattle at watering hole.

Original Land Survey Map.

Mrs. Hoard also brought back with her a 20 by 20-inch map of Collin county, Texas, revised to date with the following, underneath: "Sam R. Hamilton, Farmersville, Texas, del. 1881. August Gast & Co., lithographers, St. Louis, Missouri; assisted by T. B. Wilson, County Surveyor, McKinney."

At the top of this map, in one corner, is the following inscription, "Baines, Wolfe & Finch, lawyers and land agents, McKinney, Texas."

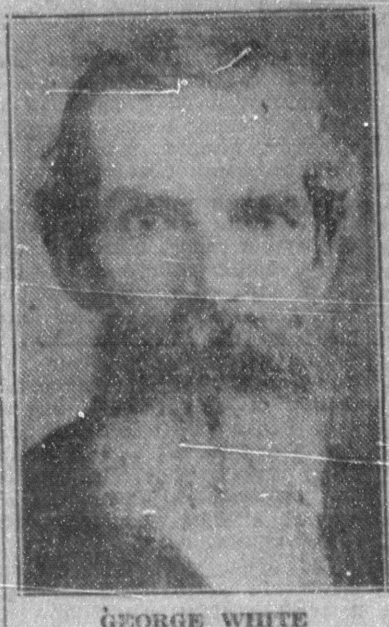
Secretary First Collin Fair



GEORGE WHITE
Born: Dec. 10. 1820.
Died: July 9, 1886.

A pioneer Collin County Fair promoter.

George White, secretary first fair 74 years ago.

GEORGE WHITE COLLIN PIONEER, PHILANTHROPIST

SOLDIER IN MEXICAN AND CIVIL WARS

The following sketch of the life of George White, pioneer Collin county settler, surveyor, philanthropist and friend of public schools, is taken from a large volume on "The Genesis of the White Family," compiled by Emma Siggins White, assisted by Martha Humphreys Maltby and published in 1920. It is a connected record of the White family, beginning in 900 at the time of its Welsh origin when the name was Wynn, and tracing the family into Ireland and England. Several of the name entered England with the Norman Conqueror. Representatives of the English Branch emigrated to America in 1638:

* * *

George White.

George White, son of Orson and Eusebia (Harrington) White, was born in Heath, Mass. December 10, 1820. His father removed in 1826 to Richville, St. Lawrence Co., N. Y., where he was educated in the common schools and academies of the county.

He was reared on a farm and followed agricultural pursuits until January, 1847, when he removed to Texas, locating as one of the earliest settlers at McKinney, Collin county. Unlike other states, Texas owned its domain, and, to induce settlers, gave large grants of land, called headrights, to these early settlers who were married. The only expense was in having this headright, sometimes amounting to several thousand acres, surveyed. George White did much of this surveying, and for twenty years, except while serving in the army, took part in every important survey in the county, either as surveyor or chainman, as page after page of the records shows.

* * *

Located Collin School Lands.

In 1854, he located the school lands within the county, lands which were so well chosen that they have been a source of much revenue to the county schools.

In 1857, he laid out and surveyed the "Dallas Road," now one of the best known thoroughfares in this part of the state.

He also platted the beautiful Pecan Grove cemetery in which he is buried.

* * *

Mexican War Soldier.

He was an active participant in the Mexican War, serving in Captain William Fitzhugh's company, Texas Regiment of Mounted Volunteers, commanded by Colonel P. H. Bell, who at the next election, was made governor of the state.

* * *

Confederate Soldier.

In the Civil War, he enlisted in the Confederate Army, being enrolled in Captain John J. Howe's Company K of the 16th Regiment of Texas cavalry, commanded by Colonel William Fitzhugh. From this regiment he was honorably discharged on August 18, 1862, because of his being above the age limit prescribed by the law at that time. Both before and after his discharge, he served as assistant Enrolling Officer for Company E, 2d Regiment, 15th Brigade of Texas State Troops. Later, in Collin county, the 5th Regiment (Col. Martin's) of the Texas Partisan Rangers was organized, February 6, 1863, and in this he volunteered at that time and served under Captain David Haynes. He served as quartermaster and was later assigned to be clerk to the adjutant. The records of this regiment were written largely by his hand. In May, 1864, their term of enlistment having expired, the entire regiment re-enlisted and served until mustered out at the end of the war.

* * *

Stockholder in First County Fair

He was a stockholder in the First County Fair association, and was for a time its president. He held many offices in the county; in 1850 he was elected and served two years as county treasurer; from 1852-56 he served as tax assessor and collector; and for several years he was county surveyor and also notary public.

* * *

Friend of Public Schools.

He was deeply interested in educational matters and for many years he served as one of the Board of Examiners for school teachers of the county. He contributed in many ways to the success of the schools; to one of the schools he gave several acres on which a school and a church were erected and both named for him. To the city of McKinney he deeded as a gift the large and beautiful site on which the high school now stands. To the Rowlett cemetery he gave its grounds, and there a tablet to his memory was placed by the citizens of that community in 1916.

George White was a student by nature, and read a great deal, particularly on matters pertaining to science and government. He was a man of great intellectual ability and was well fitted to use a guiding hand in laying the foundation for government and prosperity in a pioneer county.

* * *

His Marriage.

He married February 16, 1882, Margaret (b. September 21, 1853), daughter of Samuel G. and Sarah E. (Hay) Ferguson, early settlers in Texas from Kentucky. They had two daughters, Margaret, now Mrs. William Taylor Hoard, of McKinney, Texas, and Mary George. He died July 9, 1886, at the age of 66 and was buried in Pecan Grove cemetery at McKinney. His widow married April 5, 1891, Dr. W. C. Mathews, who died March 26, 1892. To them was born a daughter, Clarinda, on January 14, 1892, at Amarillo, Tex. Since 1902 Mrs. Mathews and her family have lived in Baltimore, Md.

CHARACTER SKETCH LATE GEORGE WHITE

WAS WRITTEN SEVERAL YEARS AGO BY ELD. R. C. HORN

Eld. R. C. Horn gave the following character sketch a few years ago of George White deceased:

The recent visit and public addresses of Miss Mary George White in her old home city has caused my mind to revert to early days in Collin and to think of men now passed from the stage of action, but who had a large part in making our county one of the most desirable parts of the state and our city the most beautiful of its size. Among these early settlers I recall to mind her father, George White, in honor of whom she received her middle name. His life shows that a poor farmer boy, by industry and economy can become a prosperous and useful man. It proves that the farm is not a handicap to success. Just now is a good time to emphasize the fact that many of the greatest men have begun their career by "tickling mother earth."

George White was born in Heath, Mass., Dec. 10, 1820, and died at his home in Collin county, July 9th, 1886. His father and grandfather were farmers and he was raised on a farm, and at his death was among the leading farmers of the county. When a mere youth his parents moved to Richville, N. Y., where he lived until 1847, when he came to Texas. He received his education in the district schools and in the Academy in New York state.

A Surveyor.

He studied surveying and followed it in Texas for many years. Among his work in this field was the establishing of the line between the counties of Collin and Denton. He laid out Pecan Grove cemetery and other public grounds.

* * *

A Soldier.

After coming to Texas he enlisted in the Ranger service against Mexico in Col. Fitzhugh's company. He and Uncle Alfred Chandler were war comrades in this service. In 1862 he enlisted in a company raised in Collin by D. C. Haynes in defense of Southern principles. This company was lettered "K" in a regiment commanded by Col. Lee M. Martin of McKinney. Mr. White served till the close of the war. He held several official positions and was a fine recorder of events. I recently examined a number of records of war events kept by him during the war, among these an almost complete Regimental roll of the regiment in 1864. These papers, both in penmanship and form, are models of neatness and order. Now after they have been on file in his home and that of his daughter, Mrs. W. T. Hoard, for about 54 years, they are as fresh as writings of yesterday. Mrs. Hoard prizes these records very highly and takes extra care of them. I may print some of these rolls later for the information of the few living veterans.

* * *

In Civil Life As An Officer.

He was Deputy County Treasurer in 1850 and 1851 and in 1852 was elected to the Treasurer's office. At the close of his term he was elected assessor and collector and held the office for two terms. He then retired to his farm and began to make a home. He began to make his home more beautiful to the eye by planting small clusters of cedar over his pasture and about his home which has resulted in cedar groves over the farm that add much to its beauty.

* * *

A Progressive Public-Spirited Citizen.

Mr. White was prominent in many of the public enterprises for the improvement of agriculture, horticulture and stock raising. He was a stock holder in the first Fair association and for a time its president. He aided many public enterprises, among them donating the land now occupied by Rowlett cemetery.

* * *

A Friend of Education.

Mr. White had a practical education and was desirous of giving our boys and girls educational advantages. This is shown by his donating land for the White's Grove school and also by a deed to the city of McKinney to his seven shares which he owned in the campus now occupied by Boyd High school. The records show that this was a free gift. He aided many others to build.

Mr. White lived on his farm and in 1882 was married to Miss Margaret Ferguson with whom he was living at the time of his death. To this union two daughters were born. They are Mrs. W. T. Hoard of McKinney and Miss Mary George White of Baltimore. Both of these daughters are recognized as ladies of mental and moral worth above the average. Mr. White, their father, was a man of strong mental powers and was a man well posted in the affairs of the state in which he lived as well as the world at large. When such citizens as George White are called, society loses much. He was my comrade in war and friend in peace, and I prize his memory as a pioneer citizen.

EAST TEXAS ROSE FESTIVAL TYLER OCT. 11-12

MRS. J. L. LOVEJOY AND OTHER McKINNEY LADIES EXPECT TO ATTEND

Mrs. J. L. Lovejoy has received an invitation to be an honor guest on the occasion of the Second Annual East Texas Rose Festival to be staged in Tyler, October 11-12. Many prominent leaders, including representatives of both the State and Federal Governments, have expressed their intention of attending the celebration.

While the Tyler Festival association is only in its second year, yet its annual celebration already has assumed actual proportions. Last year, its guest register revealed names from seventy-five cities and fifteen states. A larger and more widespread attendance is expected this year, with a much more elaborate program announced.

Among the program features planned are a mammoth floral parade, coronation of the East Texas Rose Queen, a brilliant ball in honor of Her Majesty, a rose show and a tour of the East Texas Rose Nursery area which supplies more than one third of the nation's rose bushes.

Mrs. A. L. Cole and perhaps others of the McKinney Garden club attended last year and possibly some others.

Mrs. Lovejoy is planning to attend this year, if possible, and urges other members of the Garden clubs of our county and other ladies interested in flowers, especially roses, to likewise attend.

Tyler deserves her appellation of "Rose Garden of America" when at the heighth of its flowering season.

Prof. Clark Wilkes and wife of Little Rock, Arkansas, visited his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Keen, in McKinney Monday. Prof. Wilkes is a son of Rev. Rex Wilkes of Little Rock, and wife, the latter, formerly Miss Faye Stouffer, who was born and reared in McKinney. Prof. Wilkes' father was formerly pastor of the Methodist churches at Plano, Van Alstyne, Honey Grove and other points in the North Texas conference.

Mother and Babe Visiting Here

Mrs. C. F. Booher, 1617 Ave. H, Galveston, and pretty baby daughter, Willimine, born Sept. 27, 1933, guests in home Paul K. Wilson, their brother and uncle, and wife, 116 S. Benge street, and other relatives in McKinney. The above picture of little Miss Willimine was taken with her grandmother, Mrs. Willie Booher.

Mr. and Mrs. Crase Parker and Miss Helen Davidson of Durant, Oklahoma, spent the week-end in McKinney, the guests of Mrs. Parker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Williams, Mrs. Parker being, before her marriage, Miss Lucille Williams. Mr. Parker is proprietor of a barber shop in Durant, Miss Davidson being in charge of the beauty shop. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Davidson of this city.

Uncle Gus Wilson, beloved old Ash Grove pioneer citizens and "friend of man" that is, if the man is honest and industrious, was in McKinney, Saturday, looking after business matters and greeting friends. Mr. Wilson is a real philosopher when it comes to "horse sense" on practical things of life.

"It's about the biggest nickel's worth of peanuts I ever bought" said a horse show visitor after buying a bag of peanuts from the Hi school P.-T. A. booth . . . Our personal nomination for one of the finest and truest, genuine friends we have: Joe H. Wilcox, superintendent of the Collin County Horse show . . . That fine young son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Abernathy running across the livestock arena to see his Daddy prior to the horse show opening Tuesday night . . . Those box cars on the railroad tracks furnishing a "grandstand seat" for a lot of youngsters . . . Billy Ray Martin, of Celina, winner of the sweepstakes in the horse show, getting sleepy while waiting in the arena for the other two classes to show before the sweepstakes class was ready to parade . . . Go down to the free fair tonight and Thursday, visit the coliseum, the livestock barns, attend the horse show, and on the show grounds; meet up with your friends and have an enjoyable time; seeing those fine exhibits and displays will do you good, and you'll be benefitted by your visit to "The show window of Collin county."

THE HORSE SHOW OPENS

The parade of Collin county horses down at the big livestock arena on the fair grounds Tuesday night, as the Collin County Horse show opened up for three nights, was interesting and entertaining. We thoroughly enjoyed it as did hundreds of other Collin county citizens. The first night was Collin county night and was interesting throughout, from the time the tiny tots paraded on their little ponies, on up through the plantation and spotted pony classes. The affair was colorful, staged as it was under the bright lights of the arena. The moon rose, in its full golden glory in the east and everyone was thrilled with the beauty of the spectacle.

BOBBY RAY MARTIN WINS

Bobby Ray Martin of Celina was one of the youngest and most popular riders in the show. A huge round of applause greeted the announcement that he had won the Birdgefarmer cup for being the Sweepstakes winner, the most coveted honor among the young Shetland pony riders of the county, of which there are hundreds. Not only was Bobby Ray a good rider but he showed his patriotism as well by riding his favorite pony, "Franklin D," named in honor of the President. This was also appropriate since the seventeenth annual Collin County Free fair has been termed by some as the "New Deal" fair for Collin county. As one spectator remarked, "How could a pony miss being a winner with that name?"

CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations are also due Mr. and Mrs. Judd Henderson and Ray Ashley, in charge of the first night's program, for the fine show which the Collin county horses and riders gave the large group of spectators on the opening night. These leaders really put the first night's show over in a big way. The kiddies showed their knowledge of horsemanship and showmenship as the first night's spectacle moved off with excellent timing and precision and without a mar of any kind. In fact, so quickly and efficiently was the show carried out that by 9:30 the entire program had been finished.

A COMPLIMENT

Mr. Keel of Gainesville, judge of the first night's show, said that he once believed there were more pretty ponies in Denton than any place he had ever visited, but after seeing the show here Tuesday night, he had changed his mind and now realized that Collin county boasted of as many or more fine ponies and riders than any other county in the state, which is quite a compliment coming from such an experienced and capable judge

A NOTABLE GATHERING

In fact, the first night's horse show was a very notable gathering with "Franklin D," "Mae West," "Colonel," "Bing Crosby," "Rip Van Winkle," "Major" and other notables present. But, they were ponies—all ponies—demonstrating the clever names which the kiddies of the county have given their pet ponies.

LOCAL REBEKAH LODGE CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

MISS PEARL GEE NOBLE GRAND PLEASED AT PROGRAM AND RESPONSE

Immediately following the regular weekly meeting of McKinney Rebekah Lodge No. 85 on Friday afternoon last, a very enjoyable and profitable informal get-together meeting was enjoyed by members and guests. The occasion was in celebration of the eighty-third aniversary of the establishment of the Rebekah branch of Odd Fellowship which took place on September 20, 1851. During the course of the afternoon, some questions relating to the history of the order were discussed which proved both informative and interesting. The musical portion of the entertainment included a piano solo by Miss Margaret Pruett and several numbers by a violin trio composed of Misses Tommie Walden, Dollie Dean Mills, and Hugh Kirkpatrick Jr. Appetizing refreshments were served to the gathering which included, besides a number of active members, several former members and guests. Miss Pearl Gee, Noble Grand of the Lodge, expressed herslf as being highly pleased with the attendance and also the interest shown.

WHEAT SOWING TIME AGAIN FOR COLLIN FARMERS

B. F. DINSMORE ALREADY SOWN 30 ACRES—WILL SOW 35 ACRES MORE

B. F. (Frank) Dinsmore, who lives on his little suburban place, three miles south of McKinney on Route 2, has already sown thirty acres of wheat on his farm, two miles west of McKinney, on which his son, Bonnie Dinsmore, and wife live.

Mr. Dinsmore says this is a mighty pretty time to sow wheat. We have had about four-and-a-half inches of rain since September 1, which has put the ground and soil in favorable condition for seeding.

Mr. Dinsmore expects to sow, thirty-five acres more wheat next week, which will give him a total wheat crop acreage sown this fall, of about sixty-five acres.

Mr. Dinsmore harvested forty-five acres of wheat, this year, that averaged a little more than sixteen bushels per acre, with a high test. He has not sold his wheat only to farmers for seed purposes. He is readily selling at $1.25 per bushel which is above the regular market.

Mr. Dinsmore has also made plenty of corn to do him. Some of his corn made as high as twenty-five to thirty bushels per acre on second bottom land.

He has already picked a third of a bale per acre from his cotton crop and is not through picking yet. Mr. Dinsmore raised more than his cotton allotment.

Mr. Dinsmore, who is recognized as one of our county's very best farmers, sowed wheat last year in September. This wheat that he sowed in September last year, made more than twenty bushels per acre and was the best wheat that he had. His October sowing was not so good. However, he says that he has sown wheat as late as the first of December and one year made forty-two bushels to the acre from December sowing.

The late J. D. Rattan of Anna told this editor once that he always preferred to sow wheat on or after December 1, rather than prior to that date.

Farmers of our county differ in their views as to the best month for sowing wheat. However, most of them prefer to sow in the month of October.

Mr. Dinsmore prefers to sow early because the farmer can get more good wheat pasturage by sowing in September, and it will last longer, and he thinks, as good a yield can be made from September sowing as from any other month, speaking from average yield standpoint.

Mr. Dinsmore attributes the poor wheat and oat chop, this year, to the damaging effects sustained by the grain from the heavy downpour of rain amounting to almost a flood that fell in West Collin and up to McKinney on May 24. Wheat was then at such a stage of development that the heavy rain damaged it beyond recovery, especially wheat on level or lowlands.

Mrs. Fred Fink of Marlin is expected to arrive today to visit her sister, Mrs. Homer Harris and husband and to attend the Collin County Free fair, now in progress here. She will return to her home in Marlin about the first of October when Mrs. Harris will accompany her for a visit there. Mrs. Fink's son, Fred W. Fink Jr., is a Senior in Allen Academy this year. The Fink family is well known in McKinney, where they have often visited.

MELISSA FARMER SAYS GROUND IN GOOD CONDITION

FOR FALL BREAKING; WILL SOW WHEAT IN OCTOBER

Wilson McDonald, who lives on his farm three-quarters of a mile southeast of Melissa, was in McKinney recently. He says rain last Thursday night amounting to probably three-quarters of an inch on his farm, was welcome. This latest rain puts the ground in very good condition for fall breaking. He expects to sow wheat about the fifteenth of October. Mr. McDonald made an excellent quality of wheat, this year, and a yield of about eighteen busleis per acre, which tested sixty thresher-run. Mr. McDonald makes it a rule to sow some wheat every year. He is selling his surplus wheat for seed to his neighbors at $1.25 per bushel. This is about 25 cents per bushel above the market. Mr. McDonald has some fairly good oats, this year. His harvest crop around 40 bushels per acre. His corn is almost a failure, this year, due to the drouth. His cotton will not make more than one bale to five acres. However, he has raised enough feed to run him for another year and the prevailing price of cotton is much better than it has been for several years for which he is thankful. Wilson McDonald was born and reared near Blue Ridge, being a son of the late P. M. McDonald, an old-timer of Northeast Collin. However, Wilson McDonald lived in Grayson county for eight years. He bought his present farm near Melissa and moved on it seven years ago. He is a good farmer and a worthy citizen.

MODERN GRAVE VAULT AT FREE COUNTY FAIR

The C. C. Harris Funeral home of this city, in its interesting booth at the coliseum, as a part of the Seventeenth Annual Collin County Free fair, is giving a miniature demonstration of the protection that the Clark grave vault provides against water. The Clark vault is considered the best and Harris' take pride in recommending them. A line of these vaults is kept on hand by the Harris home, here.

Still, another feature of importance is shown in this display, the New Placing Device, Stand and Lowering Device, used so successfully by the Harris Funeral home. It is a thing of real beauty. There is no other equipment of its kind in Collin county so it is claimed and very few in use in Texas.

It is in accord with the ideals of the Harris Beautiful Funeral Service and makes a most impressive committal service.

Other things to be noticed in this booth is a child's pretty casket, a "National Casket," and a grave vault for children.

There are placards calling your attention to the Old Line Legal Reserve insurance policies which Harris' offer in amounts of $100 to $1000(to all ages without medical examination and at a very low rate.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tishcler are now making their home at Celina, in West Collin. They were married at St. Thomas Catholic church, in Pilot Point, on Saturday, September 22, at 8:00 o'clock with Rev. Father Paul officiating. The bride was formerly Miss Lorene Schindler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Schindler of Pilot Point, while the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tischler of near Celina. Miss Dorothy Tischler, sister of the groom was maid of honor, while Louis Haier was best man.

POWDERED MILK WILL BE MANUFACTURED IN M'KINNEY BY NEW MILK PRODUCTS PLANT

Ben E. Cabell, prominent Dallas dairyman, milk products manufacturer and merchant, makes weekly visits to McKinney looking after his Collin County Milk Products plant here, with Glen Coleman, local manager.

On a recent visit, he gave this paper the information that he has already bought equipment to add to the Collin County Milk plant, a drying department, which will open for operation in the spring.

This milk drying department will enable the local plant to utilize the skim milk by converting it into milk powder that will be sold to chicken feed manufacturers over the country.

This will require some additional labor and will add to the earnings of the local plant, which opened up last March for business in our city and has steadily grown in volume of business ever since its opening day.

Seven or eight motor truck milk routes are operated out of McKinney throughout surrounding territory to gather up milk from farm homes and unload it here at the McKinney plant, which buys it directly from the farmers on a butterfat basis.

The McKinney plant has consistently paid from one to two cents per pound more for butterfat than any other market available to Texas milk producers.

The increase in volume of milk obtained has been steady. More than 200 farmers are now milking cows and disposing of their whole milk to the Collin County Milk Products plant motor trucks.

Still, Mr. Cabell claims that he is getting only about fifty per cent of the quantity of milk that he would like to obtain in order to supply his cream factory, at Dallas, with its full quota required.

Cabell ice cream has grown by leaps and bounds in popularity in Dallas, McKinney and other points where it is sold, all because it is manufactured chiefly from rich Jersey cream, produced from Collin county cows and sold to the plant by Collin county farmers who get their milk checks every Saturday night and spend it with McKinney merchants.

The milk is unloaded at the McKinney plant where it is paid for and separated, and the cream then trucked to the ice cream factory in Dallas.

Mr. Cabell assures his patrons and farmers generally in this section that his milk trucks will continue to operate through the winter months so that any farmer will be assured of continued market for all of his milk if he wishes to add more cows to his herd.

The milk checks paid out every week, at McKinney, to Collin county farmers help increase the buying power of these enterprising farmers, who in turn as above stated spend their money with McKinney merchants.

Cabell's are buying directly from the farmers. They are making the highest quality of ice cream and now propose to install a plant for manufacturing dried milk for chicken feed manufacturers, which will bring an increased income to our city and county. Thus, laborers and every other kind of business in our city and county is helped by this worthy new McKinney enterprise.

M'KINNEY WAITS ON FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

The City Commission, so says Mayor Largent, has done everything possible to expedite the signing of the new $40,000 waterworks well bonds by the Federal Government that were voted by McKinney three or four months ago.

The amount voted was $40,000 as stated with a $15,000 additional grant or gift from the Federal Government.

The bonds are to draw four per cent. The Federal Government has already agreed to take them.

The bonds have been approved by the state and a contract proposed by the PWA, at Washington, complied with in every way and has been in Washington about two weeks for signature by the Federal Government.

Mayor Largent says that Congressman Rayburn and United States Senators Sheppard and Connally have been behind the can to hasten the seemingly project and are doing what they slow moving Federal Government authorities. But on account of there being so many projects from all over the United States, delays are almost unavoidable, so it seems.

Mayor Largent says that as soon as the Government signs the contract, the bonds will be sold and work will then commence immediately if the Federal Government so authorizes.

The Mayor and City Commissioners are very anixous to get action on sinking the well to the Trinity sands, in which reservior there is every assurance that an abundance of pure water can be had for our city for all purposes for several years to come.

The present wells are only to the Woodbine Sands and not quite half so deep as the Trinity Sands, which are a much larger water bearing strata.

ARE YOU GUILTY?

ELD. R. C. HORN

"Recently a staff bulletin of the Mayo Clinic carried the following words from William J. Mayo, M. D. to the doctors on his staff.

"As doctors we must begin to think of promoting the cause of temperance. Often do we hear when we are speaking of a certain man—a very bright man but he drinks." Of my classmates in college, so far as I know, none of them, who drank steadily, is now living, and of those who were addicts to even a very mild degree from the time the addiction became manifest, none progressed or maintained his position. One of the greatest surgeons in the world talking to me said he had never known a surgeon of the first rank who was in the habit of using alcohol."

These words should be printed in bold letters at the top of every page which carries a liquor advertisement, and should be recited by the station announcer before and after every radio broadcast urging the use of intoxicants. If they are not strong enough, they should be supplemented by a statement of Ruskin which is particularly appropriate in these days of high pressure sales efforts for alcoholic drinks. Ruskin said, 'Drunkenness is not only the cause of crime but it is crime; and if any encourage drunkenness for the sale of profit derived from the sale of drink they are guilty of a form of meral assassination as criminal as any that has been practiced."

I hold that these statements are true and that our law makers, who legalize the sale of intoxicants to drink, are also aiding the criminals. This is also true of the one who votes wet. A man who votes against the legal sale of liquors is not responsible for drunkenness. Neither is the "wet" nor "dry" is responsible for illicit sale unless he aids it. Readers, do you plead guilty or not guilty of aiding the drunkard?

Mrs. Ben T. Estes of Dallas was a guest Tuesday night of her former McKinney neighbor and longtime friend, Mrs. John R. Brown, in this city. Mrs. Estes came up to attend her old home county fair. She was a guest Wednesday of Walter B. Wilson at the joint Rotary and Lions club luncheon at the First Methodist church.

The Fifth Sunday Singing convention will meet next Sunday, September 30, at Liberty, seven miles west of Plano. A large number of good singers and a fine audience is expected. Preparations are being made to entertain the singers at noon with a dinner.

MELISSA

Mrs. Ethel Bridgefarmer

Mrs. Fred Ogilvie has been on the sick list.

Mrs. Sharley Taylor was elected president.

Mrs. Anna Roach, who has been seriously ill for two weeks is no better.

The plans for the establishment of a kindergarten were brought up and discussed. No decision was reached.

The subject of new song books for the school was brought up and discussed. The matter was left in the hands of the treasurer and teachers.

Following the appointment of a committee to draw up resolutions expressing sympathy on the passing of Mrs. Wallis. Miss Johnson closed the meeting with prayer.

Mrs. Smart made the motion that a contest be held and a prize given the room having the greatest per cent of mothers present on some date to be determined later.

Mrs. Dauris Lindsey and daughter, Dorothy Jo, of Sherman spent Friday here visiting their sister and aunt, Mrs. Bob Craft and husband. Dorothy Jo has been ill some two months but is slowly improving.

The Melissa P. T.-A. met Friday afternoon, September 14, in the school auditorium with the vice-president in charge. The secretary read the report of the last meeting after which the vice-president called for old business.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Long have moved into the J. W. Douglas home recently vacated by Dauris Lindsey and family. Mr. and Mrs. Long have resided in McKinney since their marriage in the summer. Mrs. Long was Miss Maye Phillips before her marriage to Mr. Long. She has taught school as Kelley for a number of years and will teach again this year.

Mrs. Hattie Jordan of Chembersville is here visiting relatives. Her son, Harry oJrdan, and family live in Van Alstyne and she has just come from a visit of several days there. Her daughter, Mrs. Mary Graves, lived here, also her son, Glenn Jordan and a saiter-in-law, Mrs. C. W. Hardaway. Mrs. Jordan lived in the Melissa community for many years.

Edwin Dickenson, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Dickenson, left for Denton where he will be a student in the North Texas State Teachers college. Edwin was a graduate of the McKinney High school last spring, being president of his class. He is a fine young fellow with high moral standards of living. He is employed by the J. C. Penney company, Denton, for part time work

A party and shower was given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hughes Friday night honoring Mrs. Alva Bell and Mrs Charley Herod, two recent brides of the community. Mrs. Bell was Miss Reba Swanner and Mrs Herod was Miss Virginia Lindley before their marriage. The brides were presented with many nice and useful gifts in the shower. Sandwiches and cake cream were served the guests which included the members of the bride's Sunday school class and other friends.

School opened Monday morning with all the usual excitement and more this year. Appreciation has been made for the eleventh grade to be added, two buses have been purchased, one going east and one west and both are loaded to capacity when they get back to school. The teachers this year are D. W. Smart, superintendent; Prof. Smith, principal; Mrs. D. W. Smart, Misses McKinsey, Georgia Corbin, Tezzie Johnson, Elizabeth Evans and Corinne Gibson. A large number of pupils from other districts are coming to enjoy the benefits of the Melissa school this year.

The garden club met for its first regular fall meeting in the home of Mrs. Alvin Lindsey Wednesday afternoon at 2:30. Fourteen members answered roll call. Plans were discussed for the park. Mrs. D. W. Smart treasurer, resigned not having time for the work as she is one of the teachers here this year. Mrs. J. W. Berry was elected to beome treasurer. Mrs. H. S. Wyzong gave an interesting demonstration on table decoration for September. An interesting program was carried out as follows: Autumn planting and winter care of perennials by Miss Eula Barker; Autumn bulb planting, Mrs. G. W. Moore.

At the meeting of the P.-T. A. Friday afternoon, resolutions of respect were submitted by the committee, Mrs. J. T. Mantooth, Mrs. Joe C. Moore, Mrs. H. T. Leight and Miss Tezzie Johnson in memory of Mrs. W. R. Wallis who passed away at her home here August 19, 1934. The resolutions commented on the inspiration of Mrs. Wallis' gentle influence and her noble Christian character and suggested that we try to emulate the example of her who so cheerfully and willingly spent her life in her Master's service. Mrs. Wallis was a charter member of the P.-T. A. here.

CAMERON FARM IS M'KINNEY LANDMARK

Friends of George Cameron, young farmer who is running his mother's big 231-acre farm just across the highway from the northwest McKinney corporate limits, are joking him about the prolificness of his farm this year.

George and his good wife are the parents of two children—George Marion, a son, twelve years old, who rides his horse to the J. H. (Central) ward school every day, and pretty little five-months-old Patricia Cameron, born April 20.

In addition to the increase in his happy little family circle of Patricia, Mr. Cameron's flock of sheep has been increased so far, this year, by 20 or more lambs and other livestock increases as follows: two fine young colts, as many as thirteen pretty young pigs from one big white (O. I. C.) brood sow, seven little puppies from a Spitz mother dog, a half dozen little Jersey calves or more, some of them subject to registration, and perhaps much other livestock and poultry flock increases.

Mr. Cameron's home is equipped with city water and natural gas. He laid the 1600 feet of pipe himself with help of his farm hands in order to equip his home with those utilities. He has electric light poles ready to string wire and connect for electric lights when he gets ready to install them.

Mr. Cameron says that his cotton will make about a quarter of a bale per acre, this year, and his corn an average of twenty bushels per acre. Some of it will make as much as thirty or thirty-five bushels. This latter corn yield was raised on alfalfa land.

His wheat made an average of eleven bushels per acre, this year, and oats fifty. Most of his oats were fall sown, which, he finds from experience, are usually better than spring sown oats.

George milks six cows and has for several years been retailing his milk to a few good McKinney customers among families of our city.

He usually divides his farm up among various kinds of crops and finds that it pays better than risking too much on any one crop.

He has one of the prettiest mesquite pastures of about twenty-two acres to be found in the county. It lies between the pike and the big two-story old Southern Cameron home, a part of which was first built about 1859 by his grandfather, the late Isaac F. Graves.

The house stands just two miles northwest of the McKinney courthouse. This beautiful big farm home was nicely repainted only about two months ago. Although the lumber was hauled from Jefferson more than seventy years ago, the house is still in good repair.

This Cameron farm home, with the pretty big mesquite pasture in front of it, is a McKinney landmark. It always attracts the admiration of those who travel the McKinney-Celina pike, running alongside, the place on the east.

Mr. and Mrs. Cameron are a thrifty farm couple, the latter being a daughter of F. M. Griffin, a highly esteemed and successful farmer-stockman of the Foote community about six miles west of McKinney. Hardly a day passes in the year that Mr. and Mrs. Cameron do not have something or other to sell to local merchants or housewives that has been raised or produced on their farm, which is cultivated altogether by horsepower.

ESTABLISHED FEBRUARY 7, 1884. McKINNEY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, SEPT. 27, 1934— SECOND SECTION FIFTY-FIRST YEAR

BROTHER OF MRS. C. E. MELTON BURIED SUNDAY

John B. Cate, 46 years, 11 months and 15 days old, of Allen, died Saturday afternoon, September 22, at 3:40 o'clock after a week's illness, following an appendicitis operation. His appendix had burst and his condition was regarded all along as precarious.

Funeral services were held in the Christian church, at Allen, Sunday, conducted by the pastor, and assisted by Dr. Clifford S. Weaver, pastor of the First Christian church, of McKinney, and Rev. Thos. Sterck, pastor of the Allen Methodist church. Interment followed in the Allen cemetery under the direction of the Perry Funeral home of Farmersville, G. Edward Bolger, manager.

John Buford Cate was born, October 7, 1887, and was married to Miss Bessie Chandler, who with the following son and four daughters survive: John B. Cate, Martha, Billy, Doris and Dorothy Cate, the last two daughters being twins.

The deceased was a ginner for several years connected with the Allen Gin company of which Mr. Sims is manager.

He is also survived by Mrs. Carl E. Melton of McKinney, a sister.

The deceased was a World War veteran, having served for a year or more in Battery F, 125th Field Artillery, American Expeditionary Forces.

The American Legion was in charge of the burial rites with Rev. Luther Greer, chaplain of the Plano Post, directing the services.

The deceased was a Mason, Woodman and a member of the Christian church. He was a highly respected citizen, whose untimely death is mourned by many friends.

MODERN FUNERAL HOME DUPLICATE IS EXHIBITED

CLEVER REPRODUCTION IN MINIATURE FOR FAIR VISITORS TO ENJOY

One of the most interesting and captivating booths at our County Free fair, this year, is that of the Harris Funeral home, located in the city coliseum.

Those visiting this display find it pleasing and interesting and declare it a perfect piece of craftsmanship in handiwork.

The booth features a miniature building of the Harris Funeral home. It is complete in every detail and an exact model of the pretty, modern brick building—showing lawn, flowers, evergreens, sign, fish pond, flower boxes, seats, walks, drives, awnings, thellis and the air washer for cooling system. This part of the exhibit, with its fine color scheme and with electric lights shining through the windows provides a sight to marvel over.

C. C. Harris, manager of the Harris Funeral home, has certainly demonstrated his ability as an artist in presenting this masterpiece to the visitors at the county fair, this year. He made and built every bit of it by hand. It is difficult to detect the difference in a photograph of this little madel from that of the real building itself.

CLUB LAKE GETTING RID MANY CARP

Water in Club Lake, ten miles southeast of McKinney, has gotten very low as a result of the long summer's drouth and continued hot weather that caused heavy evaporation. During the last few days, seining has been going on, to a more or less extent, for the purpose of catching carp and destroying them. This is done in order to protect the game fish from destruction by the carp. The latter fish also keep the water muddied up, which tends to destroy the game fish. In seining for the carp, bass, white perch and other game fish are thrown back into the lake when caught along with carp.

Adjustments To Be Made To Farmers Hit By Drouth

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace announced in Washington that the Bankhead cotton limitation act will be continued, but that adjustments will be made to producers who have been hard hit by the drouth Cully A. Cobo, chief of the AAA cotton production, informed state allotment committees to redouble their efforts to complete individual allotments so that distribution of the special 10 per cent reserve can be started.

This reserve, provided for in the Bankhead act, is 10 per cent of the total amount of cotton alloted to each state, and is in addition to the amounts already apportioned to the counties. It was designated to correct inequities arising on individual cases due to special conditions which are shown to exist on such farms.

This 10 per cent, however, officials said, can not be apportioned until all individual applications from all the counties in the state have been received.

The decision not to suspend the Bankhead act was reached at a conference between Wallace and a group of Southern congressional leaders.

PROTECTION OF LOCAL MERCHANTS FROM IMPOSTERS

On account of some confusion as to solicitation by parties for school activities, but not vouched for by school officials, a special meeting was recently held by the Board of Directors of the McKinney Retail Merchants association, at which Prof. L. D. Robinson, prinicpal of the high school, was called into conference.

It was unanimously agreed in the interest of both our city schools and business interests that any solicitor or solicitors for the Senior High school for funds for its activities should carry along with them credentials in the way of a written endorsement, either by superintendent Ryan or Prof. Robinson, in order that merchants may know that such advertising is authorized and approved by proper school authorities.

By this cooperation, school and business both will save and conserve.

It is also understood that solicitors for the L. A. Scott Junior High school activities should likewise bear the written endorsement of Superintendent Ryan and Principal N. C. Smart.

The same requirements will be expected for solicitors in the interest of either one of the grammar of ward schools. That is, the ward school solicitors should have the written authorization from their respective principals.

This regulation is for the purpose of trying to discourage certain outside solicitors and to conserve as much finance for McKinney as possible.

The Retail Merchants association has a committee that has done splendid work in handling unneeded and undesirable schemes that would take much money from our city if not constantly watched.

Acquit Pollard In Fag Tax Case

Claude Pollard, former attorney general and one of the state's most prominent lawyers, was acquitted in Austin on charges of "consenting to the use" of counterfeit cigaret tax stamps.

The acquittal was returned in a little more than an hour by a Travis county district court jury which had listened for more than a week to evidence and legal arguments.

CHARLIE HEARD BIRTHDAY SEPTEMBER 24

BEEN McKINNEY RESIDENT FOR SEVENTY-TWO YEARS

Our fine old friend, C. P. Heard, is celebrating another birthday last Monday, September 24. He is a retired McKinney merchant and cotton buyer, who was born at Van Buren, Crawford county, Arkansas, and came with his parents and family to McKinney when he was a little child, in 1862. Uncle Chariey is one of McKinney's most widely known citizens and business men. His friendly nature and optimstic spirit are wholesome influences that just naturally draw friends to him and hold them steadfast. Congratulations, Uncle Charley; may good health and happy days continue to be yours are the wishes of these two editors.

DEMAND FOR FARMS TO RENT IS STRONGER

Real estate men tell us that the demand for farms to rent is stronger than for years. And there is a reason: cotton, 14 cents; corn, 75 to 85 cents; wheat, $1.00; oats, 50 cents; as against cotton, 5 cents; oats, 10 cents; wheat, 40 cents; as of two years ago. That is the reason. Back to the farm. Go to work.

Mrs. C. F. Booher, 1617 Ave. H., Galveston, and pretty little year-old daughter, Willimine, arrived Saturday on a visit to her brother, Paul K. Wilson and wife and other McKinney relatives. Mrs. Booher was formerly Miss Mary Seay Wilson and was born and reared in McKinney. She and her husband recently returned from a very enjoyable visit to the Century of Progress at Chicago. Mrs. Booher states that the exposition surpasses what any one can imagine it to be. It really has to be seen to be appreciated. Mrs. Booher is a niece of George M. Wilson and Postmaster Wallace C. Wilson both of this city and also she has three aunts living here—Mrs. J. Frank Smith, Mrs. John E. Burrage and Mrs. W. A. Massie.

County Auditor and Mrs. R. E. Beasley are on a vacation trip. They will visit their son, Prof. Cecil Beasley, a member of the staff of the Bankhead Act Administration, at College Station, and then will go to Galveston, Austin, San Antonio and back by way of Mineral Wells.

Mrs. Buck Bogard Makes $5,000 Bond Following Death 17-Year Old Girl

Miss Lavnia Wilson, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wilson, residing on North College street, this city, was instantly killed about 8:30 o'clock (Friday) night when a discharge from a .32 calibre pistol took effect in her head. The body was brought to the Isaac Crouch Funeral home and prepared for burial.

Justice of the Peace Erwin Craus rendered an inquest at the scene of the shooting, his verdict being that the deceased met her death from gunshot wounds inflicted by Mrs. Earl (Buck) Bogard. Justice Craus was accompanied to the scene of the tragedy by Constable John Record, Deputy Constable Bill Herndon and J. C. Moore.

The deceased, Miss Lavnia Wilson, was born March 16, 1917 in the Viney Grove community, east of McKinney, but had resided in this city with her parents for the past five years. She had lived in this county all her life.

Her funeral services were held at 3:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Walnut Grove, west of McKinney, burial following in the Walnut Grove cemetery. Funeral services were under the direction of the Isaac Crouch Funeral home of this city. She was a member of the Nazarene church.

The deceased is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wilson, and the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Opal Stephens of Celina, Mrs. Jim Lee Petty of McKinney, Virgil Wilson, Florene Wilson, Christine Wilson, Willis Wilson, Harold Wilson and Modie Wilson, all of this city.

Mrs. Earl (Buck) Bogard, charged in connection with the shooting and instant death of Miss Lavnia Wilson, 17, three miles southwest of McKinney Friday night, waived examining trial Saturday. Her bond was set at $5,000. She immediately made bond.

In the testimony brought out at the examining trial, it was alleged that the husband of Mrs. Bogard, Earl (Buck) Bogard, in company with Miss Lavnia Wilson and another couple, had gone to the home of Jim Sweeney (colored), residing some distance past Buck's bridge, in the southwestern part of the county, about three miles from McKinney, for the purpose of buying chickens. As Mrs. Bogard and son, Dorse Key (Little Buck) Bogard, in company with three others, approached the home in an automobile, it is alleged, that the four in the house broke and ran from the house.

Mrs. Bogard, it is alleged, followed Miss Wilson into a nearby cotton field, shooting and instantly killing the seventeen-year-old girl. Death was instantaneous, the bullet striking Miss Wilson in the tip of the nose and going through her head into the base of her brain.

Mrs. Bogard came almost immediately to the Sheriff's office, surrendering to Deputy Jim Douglass. Charges of murder have been filed against her in Justice of the Peace Erwin Craus' court by County Attorney W. Clarence Dowdy and his Assistant, Leon O. Moses.

SON IN LAW LATE SAM FOX SUDDENLY DIES

Justus L. Woodworth, 59, of 4142 Wycliff, Dallas, died at 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning, September 23, at Madisonville, Texas, where he was employed as a construction engineer by the Texas Relief Commission Park department. He suffered a stroke of apoplexy at 7:00 o'clock Friday morning, preceding his sudden death.

Funeral services were held at 2:00 o'clock last Monday afternoon at the Central Christian church, Dallas, conducted by his pastor, Dr. Graham Frank. Burial followed in Pecan Grove cemetery, here at McKinney with Dr. Clifford S. Weaver, pastor of the First Christian church, at McKinney, officiating at the graveside.

Mr. Woodworth, who had made his home in Dallas for twelve years, was superintending the construction of a lake at Normangee, near Madisonville, in Madison county, at the time that he was suddenly stricken. Prior to coming to Dallas, he was associated in the operation of a gold mine in Mexico. He laid out a number of the streets in the city and roads leading into Dallas and had considerable experience as a civil engineer and good roads builder.

The deceased was a deacon in the Central Christian church, Dallas, a thirty-second degree Mason, and a member of Hella Temple Shrine.

Mr. Woodworth's wife was formerly Miss Helen Fox, daughter of the late County Commissioner Sam H. Fox of McKinney and a sister of Mrs. Joe Ware and Mrs. Will R. Hill of this city and of the late Mrs. Wick Graves.

Mrs. W. R. Hill went to the bedside of her brother-in-law with Mrs. Woodworth immediately after the stricken husband became ill. Mrs. Ware, Mrs. Tom Scott, Mrs. James H. Merritt and Miss Louise Harrison, all went to Dallas Sunday to be with Mrs. Woodworth during her sad ordeal.

Mr. Woodworth was a man of good education, very pleasing address and of strict integrity of character. He was an affectionate, dutiful husband. Although he never lived at McKinney, but having married a McKinney girl, he often visited here and made a host of friends in our midst who were shocked and greatly grieved at his sudden and untimely death.

MISS JIMPIE KENDALL, DENTON BURIED HERE

Miss Allie Kendall died at her late home on West Hickory street, Denton, Friday, September 21, at 1:30 o'clock. Her funeral was conducted by Rev. J. D. Grey, pastor of the First Baptist church, at Denton, Sunday afternoon and the body brought to McKinney for burial in Pecan Grove cemetery at 4:00 o'clock that afternoon. Pallbearers were J. A. Barton, R. A. Sledge, Dr. J. W. Fralin, J. C. Coit, W. C. Collier and Dr. H. E. Roberts, all of Denton.

The deceased was a native of this county, having been born on the farm of her father, a short distance north of McKinney. Her father was the late Thomas Kendall, an early settler of this county. The deceased was better known to her McKinney friends and acquaintances as Miss "Jimpie" Kendall. She was a dressmaker by trade. Her younger sister, Miss Lois Kendall, married Arthur Lawrence, at one time a printer on this paper, who was accidently killed some years ago in an auto accident. His wife died later, and Miss Jimpie helped raise their two little sons.

The nearest kin of the deceased still living at McKinney or near McKinney are Mrs. Waldo Chaney (formerly Miss Maude Kendall) and Mrs. Sterling Stiff, who are her first cousins. The late W. A. (Billy) Kendall was also a first cousin of the deceased.

The deceased followed the trade of a dressmaker in McKinney for some years and also at Plano before locating in Denton.

ALLRED WINS IN TEST OF NOMINATION

An injunction restraining the printing of Jas. V. Allred's name on the general election ballot as the Democratic nominee for governor was dissolved in San Antonio by the Fourth Court of Civil Appeals.

The court held that the District which had granted the injunction was without jurisdiction. Alleging excessive campaign expenditures by Allred's supporters, Joe Burkett, Bexar county district attorney, Walter Tynan and others obtained a temporary injunction enjoining the secretary of state from certifying Allred's name as the Democratic nominee.

The temporary injunction was granted by District Judge W. W. McCrory in the Ninety-Fourth District court of Bexar county. It was alleged that Allred was not entitled to have his name on the ballot because his organization had purportedly exceeded the $10,000 limitation specified by law for expenses of candidates.

* * *

Opinion of Court.

The opinion of Chief Justice Bickett of the Fourth Court of Civil Appeals declared that "the effect of the decision is limited to holding unconstitutional the article of the civil statutes attempting to prescribe disqualification for one candidate in the general election for the governor's office and to confer jurisdiction upon courts to determine such an alleged disqualification. Penal statutes concerning expenditures in primary and general elections are unaffected by this decision."

Associate Justice W. O. Murray, Jr., while concurring with Justice Bickett's decision, disagreed with some of the reasons cited by the chief justice in arriving at the decision.

The injunction suit was filed shortly after the recent state Democratic convention. Allred denounced the action as "a political lawsuit," brought by "hard losers." He described Burkett and Tynan as his political enemies of long standing.

Burkett, Allred recalled, resigned from the highway commission during an investigation in 1926. He was appointed to the commission by Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson.

It was understood that District Attorney Tyman would not appeal from the decision of the Fourth Court. Failure of the district attorney to appeal will end the suit, it was believed. It was pointed out that Supreme Court decisions have held that some state authority must make the appeal in a quo warronto proceeding.

If such is the case, Burkett can not appeal the case unless he is joined by Tyman.

The effects of the Civil Appeals Court decision was to invalidate the statute under which the suit was filed.

Editorial Expression

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1934.

Now that the Central headquarters of the Texas Centennial has been established, at Dallas, within less than an hour's drive from McKinney, it behooves our city and county to redouble their efforts as to good roads improvement and beautification. This also applies to tidying up private residences along our highways in city, town and village, as well as through the rural districts. Texas will have an opportunity during the Centennial celebration of 1936 to introduce herself for the first time to multiplied thousands of visitors and tourists. You know that first impressions are the most enduring. McKinney and Collin county is on the main highway from the North through the Red River gateway at Denison to the Dallas Centennial headquarters and thence spreading out to historic points of interest in every other part of the state. Our progressive citizenship are in full sympathy with the civic-mindedness of Texas for the Centennial's success. We are going to help by beautfiying rather than hindering that epochal celebration by our indifference and slovenness.

Henry Ford is today in full swing on the final move that will give his industry an absolutely independent supply of the thirty-six different kinds of special steels which it requires. The move involves the building of two huge new steel mills, installation of a vast amount of special machinery and sufficient additions to his present power equipment to drive the new mill. The construction will require eight months to complete and will cost between twelve and thirteen million dollars. When the new mills are ready, Ford can produce 3,000 cars a day without buying a pound of steel in the market. Henry Ford has always sought to be independent of the main run of industry and has succeeded in doing so in many ways. He is a financial genius.

Cotton is not the only crop in this section, which can be turned into economic security by North Texas. During the year ending June 30, the three big flour mills at Sherman produced more than one per cent of the entire flour production of the United States. The mills ground 5,251,257 bushels of wheat during the year and paid Federal processing taxes of $1,724,134. The Collin County Mill & Elevator Co., of this city, of which Gibson Caldwell is president, also had a good year and paid the government a great amount of processing taxes.

Huntsville has something besides the grave of General Sam Houston to offer Texas visitors in 1936, although that in itself would be enough. Close by where rests the mortal remains of this patriot is also the grave of Henderson Yoakum, Texas historian and patriot, for whom a county is named. For many years his home was near Huntsville, and the home remains as a landmark. He practiced law and in 1855 wrote a history of Texas. His was the first published history of Texas.

The Texas Textile Mill of this city, of which Frank W. Smith is manager, is one of the largest mills of its kind west of the Mississippi. The local mill has the largest dyeing department west of the Mississippi River, as concerns indigo dyeing or the dyeing of the cotton after it has been spun into thread. The local mill was recently awarded the contract for 400,000 yards of cotton ticking to be used by the Federal Government in making mattresses for the relief of the unemployed and poor. This is over half of the contract awarded to the Texas Textile Mills, with plants at McKinney, Dallas and Waco.

Remember the slogan, "Safety First." When you are driving an automobile, don't reckon on the other fellow being as careful as you are—that is if you drive carefully. Always go slow when you are driving an automobile. If you are not driving, specifically advise the driver to slow down when he gets the speedometer too high. Don't be afraid of being called a "slow poke," a "slow" life is better than a quick death. "Safety First."

Texas is becoming Centennial-minded. Just because they have never staged anything like the Texas Centennial is no reason why Texans should be afraid they cannot put the thing over. Texas has always been known for its co-operation in itself as a state. Let's all pull together and really show the world how fine Texas is during the 1936 Centennial, celebrating one hundred years of glorious freedom.

According to statistics, Texas ranks eleventh among the states of the Union on manufacturing plants—being credited with 5,198. Here is the field of greatest potential development in our state. It has six million inhabitants, unlimited natural resources with a soil and climate altogether favorable to year-around-operation under best conditions. McKinney should join in the effort to bring more factories within her doors along with similar efforts of other cities of the state.

The fall season is with us. We like it. Crisp fall weather puts pep into everyone and causes things to hum.

LOCAL COTTON MILL RECEIVES FEDERAL ORDER

According to Manager Frank W. Smith of the big Texas Textile mill, here in McKinney, over 400,000 yards of ticking for government relief mattresses will be manufactured in the local mill, with completion due sometime in January. This is over half of the order given the Texas Textile Mills, with plants at McKinney, Dallas and Waco.

The contract price ranges from 12½ cents to 13 cents. Ticking for the same purpose is being made at the Dallas and Waco plants.

The dyeing section of the McKinney mill is said to be the largest, so far as indigo dyeing is concerned, west of the Mississippi River. Raw stock also is dyed at the local plant. The yarn is dyed in the indigo process, while the cotton is dyed by the raw stock method, after which the yarn is spun.

There was a time

—when old-fashioned heating systems blistered your face while your back shivered.

But now . . .

with natural gas, winter is just another pleasant season in the modern home.

A timely reminder

Days are growing shorter, nights longer, and the first cold days of winter are on the way.

Now is the practical time to check up your heating equipment while winter is still "around the corner." Don't let obsolete or inadequate heating rob you of a pleasant indoor climate. Improved gas heating equipment and your dependable gas service will give you care-free, inexpensive comfort at the touch of a match and you'll find just the type heater to fit your particular need on display at your gas company or appliance dealer's.

If this were a gasless community, the next order of business would be laying in a supply of coal or wood. Of course, your dependable gas service makes this fuss and bother unnecessary. All through the summer months your gas company has been "keeping your fuel service faithful"—improving facilities so that you may have the safety and security of a dependable natural gas supply again this winter.

. . . If for any reason your gas meter is not connected ready for winter—call your gas company NOW and avoid the rush of that first "norther."

An ample gas supply has been provided . . . pipe lines and distributing lines have been checked over . . . compressor stations have been overhauled. In fact, every detail of your gas service has been carefully perfected to assist you in stopping Jack Frost at the threshold of your home.

OTHO NITCHOLAS WILL BE WITH SOX NEXT YEAR

According to Scout Roy Largent of the Chicago White Sox of this city, Otho (Fatty) Nitcholas, who has been a member of the Sacramento club of the Pacific Coast League, a Double A league, has been recalled by the Chicago White Sox and will report to them next spring for early season practice.

Scout Largent, who is head scout of the White Sox, tells us that Fatty has made a wonderful record on the coast this year. Otho, who hails from Altoga, and who first gained pitching renown with the McKinney High school, bi-state championship teams of a few years ago, has one of the lowest earned run averages in the leagues and although his team is deep in the eighth or cellar position, he managed to win three games last week and is far above a fifty-fifty percentage.

Scout Largent says that Nitcholas is wonderfully improved over last year when he gained renown pitching for the Oklahoma City team of the Texas League and was one of the leading hurlers of the loop, although his team was on the bottom of the league continually throughout the league season.

Mr. Largent is elated with the new manager of the Chicago White Sox—Jimmy Dykes, third baseman, who formerly performed for the world champion Philadelphia Athletics. Dykes is a fine manager, according to Mr. Largent, and believes in giving youngsters a chance. Nitcholas is due for a show in the majors, next season, Mr. Largent believes, and will make good.

The Pacific Coast League plays the longest schedule of any league in organized baseball, starting earlier and closing later than any other league in the nation. They close the first week in October.

REPEAL RACE TRACK GAMBLING STATUTE

The press of Texas has rendered invaluable service during recent months in the fight for the repeal of the race track gambling statute. Our clipping bureau shows that more than one hundred leading papers in Texas have either carried strong editorials against race track gambling or have assisted in disseminating information concerning the race track evil. Attorney General Allred took an unequivocal stand for the repeal of this statute and such position, in our judgment, materially contributed to the triumph of his candidacy.

Our fight for the repeal of the gambling statute is not an easy one. Race track promoters have five or six millions invested and entered desperately into the fight to elect our governor and the legislature. The citizenship of Texas must act speedily or the youngest child in our home will not live long enough to see the strangle-hold of both home and foreign jockey clubs on Texas politics broken.

There are numerous reasons why the present statute legalizing gambling at the race tracks should be repealed. Many of these have been mentioned and strongly urged in the wide-awake press of Texas, and we content ourselves with the barest reference.

The present law ought to be repealed because of its demoralizing effect upon business. The Retail Dry Goods association, composed of 20,000 merchants, recently went on record as saying that both their sales and collections have been seriously impaired by race track gambling. This law ought to be repealed because it has resulted in the nullification of all our anti-gambling statutes. A flood of bookmakers and touts has deluged every Texas city. This ought to be repealed because it has opened our doors to the gambling fraternity of the whole nation, and this fraternity is supplying a large part of the means by which race courses are being established in every part of our state. It ought to be repealed because it is enriching a few promoters of race tracks at a time when we are straining every resource to take care of the needy among our people. It ought to be repealed because as a revenue producer it is a ghastly failure. Of the sixteen and a half million dollars bet at the principal downs in recent months the promoters have received a million and a quarter while the state has had to be content with less than a third of a million. It ought to be repealed because it is subversive of every principle of good business. Every transaction which does not result in mutual benefit is a dishonest transaction. The mania for getting something for nothing is responsible in a large measure for the financial plight of our nation, and, unless checked, will prove the hidden rock upon which our nation will be destroyed. The present law ought to be repealed because it is encouraging thousands of our fellow-citizens to bet who can not afford to lose. During the spring meet at Epsom Downs, for example, 6,000 P. W. T. checks passed through its parimutuel windows.

Each of the items noted above constitute a valid reason why the present satute legalizing race track gambling should be repealed. Further, this law ought to be repealed, because of the fraudulent manner in which it got upon our statute books. Under the influence of a powerful lobby H. B. 167, legalizing race track gambling, was passed as a rider to the general appropriation bill by the grossest legislative chicanery.

MEXICAN CONSUL SPEAKER BEFORE M'KINNEY LIONS CLUB WEDNESDAY; DESCRIBES OUR NEIGHBORS ON SOUTH

The Lions program committee, composed of Lions Newton Burkett and Minor Bounds, presented to the club Wednesday noon at their regular weekly meeting, at the First Christian church, Senior Adolfo G. Dominguez, vice consul from Mexico, whose headquarters are in Dallas.

He delighted the club with an address on his native country, and its beauty. He told of a recent visit of Lion International President Vincient C. Haskall, to Mexico and spoke briefly before the Lions club in Mexico City, the largest Lions club in the world. He told of the genuine hospitality of his native land and the warm place its people had in their hearts for strangers and termed his country a "land of contrast." He illustrated by saying one will see the finest automobiles on the same thoroughfare with burrows, and of the Indians of whom there are some fifty-two different races, comprising German, French and Spanish ancestry. He told of the beautiful pyramids, some twenty-five miles out from Mexico City which are larger than the pyramids of Egypt.

He also told of a coin recently found near the pyramids, of Chinese coinage, which is reported to be older than four or five centuries before Christ. He also told of the recent revolutions started several years ago and which had done much to acquaint the different tribes and people of Mexico. He spoke of the floating gardens and their beauty, of the tropics, which are some 7,000 feet above sea level and the tropical fruits that grow in abundance and of the delightful climate the year round.

* * *

Spanish Customs.

Senor Dominguez stated that although Mexico has been freed from Spain 124 years, yet the people of that country still maintain many of the old Spanish customs, especially in the mode of dress, ranging from the most vivid colors to a modest white, in their costumes. He attributed the long age of the Indians and rural folks, who live to be 130 to 150 years of age, to the fact that they know no worry. They take life easy, getting much enjoyment out of it.

Business visitors to Mexico are extended warm welcome upon their arrival, and it is very unethical for them to mention their business mission before they have remained in the city for two or three days.

The Retail Credit Association of New oYrk, in a recent survey of different countries, finds that Mexico ranks among the first on credit basis, having very sound banking laws. Prosperity seems to have hit that country in recent years as never before, and it is truly a land of optimism. Two new Lions clubs were recently organized near Mexico City.

Senor Dominguez stated that a great highway is being built to Mexico City and will be completed in January of 1935.

This talk proved to be most interesting, especially since the local club has organized an "On to Mexico City club" to attend the Lions International convention there in 1935.

Other guests of the day were Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Newsome, Mrs. Chas. M. Cooper, Mrs. H. W. Henley, Mrs. Julia Church, Mrs. P. D. Robason, Mrs. W. W. Taylor, Mrs. Newton J. Burkett, Mrs. N. C. Smart, Mrs. C. H. Ray, and Dr. L. E. Hoard.

Mrs. Jimmie Belden was chairman of the ladies serving the delicious luncheon for the day.

J. R. Wilson, residing at 1102 Hamilton street, who has been confined to his home with illness for two weeks, is up and out again.

FEED LOANS FOR CALVES, LAMBS, AND MATURE STOCK AVAILABLE AFTER NOV. 1 SAYS C. W. SHERRILL

Beginning November 1, 1934, farmers and stockmen in the primary drought areas may get feed loan allowances for this year's heifer calves, ewe lambs, and female kids in addition to the allowances being made for mature stock, according to Charles W. Sherrill, Regional Manager of the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan office at Dallas.

Mr. Sherrill said that feed loan allowances will be made only on such stock which are retained primarily for breeding purposes; and in no event will allowances be made to feed a larger number of young and mature stock in their respective classes than the number of mature breeding stock which were owned and possessed by the borrower on April 1, 1934, or on sheep owned within six months prior to that date.

The emergency feed loans which are being advanced in the primary drought areas are disbursed from the drought relief appropriation approved June 19, 1934, and made in monthly allowances. Applications are received by the local crop and feed loan committees operating in counties throughout the drought area. Begun early in July, to date more than 32,000 of such loans and supplemental advances have been made for over $2,000,000.00.

FARMERS MUST SIGN CERTIFICATES OF COMPLIANCE BEFORE OCT. 1 IF RECEIVE RENTAL, PARITY PAYMENTS

Farmers who have had their cotton land measured and have found that they had more acres in cotton than their contract called for, will not be issued their second rental and parity payments until they have complied with the contract, according to County Farm Agent Jack McCullough. After they have complied with the terms of the contract, a Certificate of Compliance should be signed by them and the local committeemen and mailed to the county agent's office.

Second rental payments and parity payments will be made at the same time in October to those farmers who have their certificates of compliance signed up properly and mailed to this office. No rental or parity payments will be issued to anyone who has not signed a Certificate of Compliance.

Something like 300 farmers in Collin county have not signed these certificates, and they must do so between now and October 1 if they expect to receive their second rental and parity payments, Agent McCullough states.

McKINNEY FARMER AND FARM OWNER'S SUCCESS AS ONION SEED GROWER

N. A. Burton, former McKinney Postmaster and also former County Commissioner, who owns considerable farm land, most of which he operates himself, has had the product of ten acres of white waxy Bermuda seed onions threshed by hand by C. L. Webb at Farmersville.

After paying the toll for threshing, he has 1275 pounds of seed left. The present market for seed is around $2.00 per bushel, which reveals that onion seed growing in Collin county is a practical success when gone at in an intelligent manner.

In answer to inquiry from a representative of this paper, Mr. Burton stated that he sowed the ten acres in September, 1933, which he now thinks was a month too early for the best of results. However, he has already planted six acres again this fall for seed and is planning to plant twenty-five acres in next month for slips.

If successfully in growing them and they survive our winter cold and freezes, he will transplant these home grown slips during the period from about January 15 to February 15, 1935, which will save him considerably on the usual initial expense Collin county onion growers are put to when buying slips that are raised in the southern part of the state.

Some winters that are not too severe, permit young onions planted in the fall in this county to mature into choice slips for transplanting the following spring. When this is the case, Collin onion growers using them effect a considerable saving in the cost of their onion crops.

Where plants shipped in have to be bought, their high cost, together with the labor of setting them out, make an initial expense of from $25.00 to $40.00 per acre in starting the onion crop off. This heavy first expense discourages many farmers from planting Bermuda onion crops that usually do well in this blackland soil.

Mr. Burton has been engaged more or less in onion growing for the last fifteen or twenty years, during which experience he has naturally learned much about the industry.

Another advantage Mr. Burton has in his familiarity with proper packing, shipping and marketing the onions after he has grown them.

Mr. Burton has engaged, with more or less activity, in the feed and grain buying and shipping business and has thus familiarized himself with the shipping and marketing problems of nearly all farm crops.

Mr. Burton, nearly every year, stores at harvest time, more or less of his onions in cold storage when the markets are more glutted with onions than any other time of the year. He then holds his crop for release later on as the demand increases and markets improve. He nearly always makes a better profit by holding much of his crop on cold storage for the better markets. But, of course, occasionally he suffers losses by this procedure when excessive crops elsewhere are grown and better prices do not follow as he had hoped for.

Between $7,000 and $8,000 worth of onions were grown this year on Mr. Burton's farm lands around McKinney.

Mr. Burton is one of our shrewdest business men and most successful farmers, who follows the practice of farm diversification—raising such crops as cotton, corn, oats, alfalfa, onions adn a variety of feed crops.

He doesn't think any farmer should go into onion growing too heavily. But, it is a fairly sure money crop when planted on a small scale along with other crops and handled with one's own force.

He is also certain from his own experience that our county can profitably increase its efforts along the line of growing onion seed and onion slips, especially to meet its own needs or largely do so and thus greatly lessen the first cost of onion growers in planting their crops in at the beginning of the year.

Buster Graves of Plano has gone to Sherman, where he will attend Austin college this year.

Mrs. Edd Wester, wife of a retired McKinney grocery merchant, residing on West Erwin street, has been seriously ill for the past day or two. However, she was reported as some better Saturday morning.

Tom W. Andrews, extensive land owner and successful farmer of near Plano, is in a Dallas hospital Removal of several teeth recently started a hemorrhage which led to a weakened condition and necessity for hospital care there.

MISS CANDIS BOWEN BRIDE OF LEON C. FARLEY

Miss Candis Bowen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Bowen of this city, became the bride of Leon C. Farley of Denison, Thursday evening, September 20, at 7 o'clock. The wedding was the culmination of a romance which begain in early childhood, the couple having attended grammar and high school together, both being members of the same class. They graduated from Boyd High about two years ago.

The Central Presbyterian church where the marriage vows were taken, was beautifully decorated for the occasion, the altar being embanked with ferns and Althea. Ivy covered the chancel rail and doors of the church, and white candles cast a soft glow over the wedding scene. Dr. E. O. Whitwell officiated, using the ring ceremony.

The wedding music was given by Mrs. Ray Whitwell, violinst and Miss Bopeep Wilson, pianist. Mrs. J. Frank Harrington sweetly sang, "I Love You Truly," as a pre-nuptial solo while Mrs. Whitwell played as a violin solo "At Dawning." Miss Wilson played the wedding march. Lindsey Bowen and E. H. Farley, brothers of the bride and groom, were ushers.

The groom was attended by his cousin, Rev. Alma Farley of Stiff Chapel, as best man. Miss Laura Lee Savage was maid of honor, while little Miss Joy Rogers was flower girl. The bride entered on the arm of her father. She was most beautifully dressed in a wedding gown of white crepe, with a white tulle veil, which was held in place with orange blossoms. Her flowers were white roses, arranged in shower effect. Miss Savage wore a blue taffeta afternoon dress and carried an arm bouquet of pink gladdioli, while Little Miss Rogers wore a pink taffeta frock and carried a colonial bouquet of pink rosebuds.

The bride's going-away suit was navy blue triple sheer. Her accessories were of the same color.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple left for Denison where they have taken an apartment. Mr Farley is an insurance salesman in that city.

The bride, who is an attractive young woman, is one of our city's most popular young ladies. She is quite talented, having studied and the past three or four years taught expression in this city. She is an active church worker, and is admired by every acquaintance for her cultured, refined and sweet disposition.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Farley who reside west of McKinney. He was reared in this county, but moved to Denison about a year ago to accept a position. He is an ambitious, young man, who is also quite popular with his associates.

The many friends of the happy newlyweds wish them much future happiness in their new home in Denison.

Former Mayor J. E. Harris of Nevada was a McKinney visitor.

SNOW HILL FARMER STRONG BANKHEAD LAW

Jesse M. Hamor and wife and their little seven-year-old grandson, Walter Boyd, whom they have raised from babyhood, were in McKinney Thursday. They live on their place in the Snow Hill community, getting their mail on Route 4, Blue Ridge. They have lived on their present farm, which they own, for twenty-two years. Mr. Hamor raised a small cotton crop, part of it on reclaimed Johnson grass land that will make a yield of a half-bale per acre. He is very positively in favor of the retention of the Bankhead law for next year, even if the restrictions on selling all that is produced are lifted for this year's crop. He regards the present fairly good price for cotton that farmers are getting this fall is due to the wise measures of farm relief initiated and sponsored by the Roosevelt Administration. He says he certainly is not one among the very few farmers, who are given to cmoplaining against government control of cotton acreage. As he see it, cotton acreage and a large cotton overproduction and consequent five and six cent cotton market, can be averted only by the Government itself.

Mr. Hamor raised an unusually light corn crop on account of the drouth, but he has put up practically enough oats and hay to feed his livestock.

While in McKinney, Mr. Hamor called on his good friend of many years, A. M. Russell, the land man. Both Messrs. Russell and Hamor are Spanish War veterans, Mr. Russell being the present Adjutant of the Henry A. Wiley Camp, No. 29, of McKinney, United Spanish War Veterans.

Mr. Hamor enlisted in the army at Memphis, Tennessee, serving three years—more than two years of this time, he was stationed in the Phillipine Islands.

He was discharged from the service at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, as a member of Company C, 26th United States Infantry. Mr. Hamor is a member of the above Collin county organization of former Spanish War veterans.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Holland and children, waiter Dillon and Caroline and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Holland and daughter, Ernestine, all visited in Texarkana Sunday.
